Bronx Plumber Testifies Attic Floor Board Not Missing in 1934.

TAXI DRIVER HEARD

Defense Tries to Show Furrier Exhibited Gold Notes in 1933.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press).

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 6—A Bronx plumber testified today that an attic floor board, which the state charged was used in the Lindbergh kidnap ladder, was not noted by hmi to be missing when he investigated a leak in August, 1934.

Gustave Miller, the plumber, said he examined the attic at that time for six or seven minutes and could remember no boards missing.

The state had produced testimony that after Hauptmann's arrest police found a board missing from the attic, and that an upright from the kidnap ladder fitted into the vacant space, jibing with it even to the nail holes and the slant of the nails.

This evidence was further supported by a wood expert who said the grain of the ladder upright matched that of a section from which the missing floorboard had been sawn.

Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., was kidnaped and slain on March 1, 1932. The state's contention is that the floor board was torn up before that time for use in the ladder which was left near the scene of the crime.

"Did you look at the boards," Edward J. Reilly, defense chief, asked Miller.

Leak Story Supported

"I looked at them, certainly, when I walked along," he replied.

"Our best recollection is that you didn't notice any board in August, 1934, that was missing?"

"No, sir."

Miller also supported Hauptmann's story of a leak in the closet, where Hauptmann said he stored a shoe box given to him by Isador Fisch.

Hauptmann had testified the shoe box became rainsoaked, that he accidently struck it with a

DEBATE 48-HOUR WORKING WEEK

Senate Delays Action; Opponents Plead For . . . Small Business.

Two 48 hour work week measures, S. F. 55 and 57, were debated by the Nebraska senate Wednesday, but no action was taken.

Senator Sullivan of Omaha, a co-introducer of the measures, said they "would better conditions for humanity and would help us get out of the depression by putting people to work." He admitted that it might hurt some small merchants and other employers.

The fight against the proposals was led by Senators Allen, Dafoe, and Callan all representing districts in which there are no large cities.

"Small town business men cannot operate under these law," Allen asserted. "You have just about regulated the small merchant out of business now and these laws would be the last straw."

Bank At Hamburg, Ia. Is Robbed Of $1,600

HAMBURG, Ia., Feb. 6—(AP)—The Iowa State bank was robbed here today of $1,600 by an armed bandit who cowed three employes and two customers and escaped in a car stolen by a confederate and driven north out of town by the pair on U. S. highway 275.

Bruce Fender, local business man, chased the robbers car, the escaping pair outdistancing him near the junction of the highway and a road leading to Nebraska City, Neb.

The bandit entered the bank masked and threatened Tom Dougan, president; F. J. Liess, cashier; Clyde Fisher and Rex Cannon, clerks, and Mrs. Lena Rees and William Smith, customers, with his gun.

He forced Cannon, standing in a teller's cage, to put counter receipts into a sack and then ordered other members of the bank staff to bring out money kept in the vault. When Dougan protested the vault was under a time lock that would not open until 4 p. m. the robber took the sack of money and backed out the door.

NOT SEEN IN STATE.

Through a communication to the Nebraska state sheriff's office Lincoln police were asked to broadcast the descriptions of the bandits. It was thought that the pair might have turned toward Nebraska City after heading north from Hamburg but no reports of the bandit pair in this state were received by the state sheriff's office early Wednesday afternoon.

Byrd Expedition Sails From Little America

S. S. JACOB RUPPERT, AT SEA, (Via Mackay Radio)—Feb. 6—(AP)—The Byrd Antarctic expedition, its men and supplies aboard the S. S. Jacob Ruppert and the Bear of Oakland, left Little America, Antarctica, today, headed home to the United States.

As this dispatch is being flashed out, the expedition is proceeding west along the front of the tall ice cliffs of the Ross ice barrier, bound for Discovery inlet to collect live penguins.

The barkentine, Bear of Oakland, under command of Lieut. Robert A. J. English, is in the lead, under sail with a fair following wind and using her engines as well.

The last hours marking the close of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's second great effort in the South polar region were crowded. At 6 p. m., yesterday the Jacob Ruppert was obliged, by a series of minor ice falls, to withdraw from her loading berth. The flagship's commander, Commodore H. J. Gjertsen, decided it was not prudent to hold a steel ship there longer.

The Bear of Oakland took the Ruppert's place, loading her decks with stores which, at 8:30 a. m., today were transhipped to the flagship.

Hamilton's Offer To Surrender Is Declined

DALLAS, Feb. 6—(AP)—Raymond Hamilton, fugitive bank robber and gunman, today offered to surrender to federal authorities and accept a long term in Alcatraz island prison, provided they would save him from death in the electric chair for murder. The offer was made through his brother, Floyd, arrested yesterday in Shreveport, La.

U. S. District Attorney Clyde Eastus promptly declined the offer.

The Hamilton brothers barely escaped death in a police trap at a Dallas apartment Monday night. Officers fired nearly 200 shots at them. Raymond, probably wounded, still is at large but officers have closed most of his avenues of escape from this area.

Raymond Hamilton, twice successful in fleeing from Texas prisons, is under death sentence for the shooting of Major Crowson, a guard at Eastham state prison farm, in an escape more than a year ago when Clyde Barrow aided Hamilton to escape.

Floyd Hamilton, brought back to Dallas today from Shreveport, was subjected to a lengthy questioning by Eastus and federal agents.

Swanson Demands Navy Officer Explain Letter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Secretary Swanson today ordered Com. Ralph D. Weyerbacher, naval aircraft procurement officer, before a board of inquiry to explain a letter in which he was said to have offered his services as a "technical adviser" to an aviation concern.

Swanson disclosed his action at a press conference, following a demand by Chairman McSwain (D-SC) of the house military committee for information concerning disposition of the charges.

Swanson said the letter was written "in such a way that I thought it ought to be inquired into."

Weyerbacher is one of two navy officers representing the department on a central aircraft procurement board recently set up.

McSwain asserted that the naval officer acknowledged before a secret meeting in the military committee room that he offered to be a consulting engineer for a new airplane company which wanted to sell planes to the navy, for a monthly retainer fee of $1 500, plus expenses and $100 each day actually worked.

McSwain added there would be "some action up here unless there is some in the navy."

Because of the testimony, McSwain said, the committee would light bitterly a reported plan to give this officer an important post in the navy's new procurement division.

PARIS, Feb. 6—Crowds shouting "Long live the king!" swirled beneath the newly lighted lamps of the Place de la Concorde tonight following clashes with the thousands of police and guards who surrounded the scene of the riots of exactly one year ago.

The day had passed with only minor disorders, once when Premier Pierre Etienne Flanden was hissed by a crowd at Notre Dame cathedral, again when royalist youths clashed with the police at the Place St. Michel, and again within the very courtyard of police headquarters.

In the last named place, the demonstrators shouted, "Down with the assassins!" at the mobile

4 Officials Step Down In AAA Shakeup

General Counsel Frank and Three 'Liberal' Aides Resign.

DAVIS IS VICTORIOUS

Farm Administration Reorganized to Remove Internal Strife.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Jerome Frank, AAA general counsel and three of his aides, all known as "left wingers," resigned today as a result of a general reorganization of the farm administration intended to remove internal strife.

The shakeup was ordered yesterday by Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, with the approval of Secretary Wallace, and opened the way for the resignation of Davis himself probably after congress adjourns.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference today he knew nothing of the reorganization move and described it as a purely internal affair.

Seth Thomas, conservative department of agriculutre solicitor, replaced Frank, who is a former Chicago attorney.

Three of Frank's assistants, Francis M. Shea, Lee Pressman and Victor W. Rotnem, submitted their resignations, and Alger Hiss, now on leave as counsel for the senate munitions committee, who will not return to the farm administration.

Howe Not Included

Fred C. Howe, consumer's counsel, and Gardner Jackson, his assistant, two others who have sided with Frank's legal staff on questions of policy or procedure, were not included by Davis in his revised general staff. However, Howe will remain on the consumer's counsel staff in a minor capacity. His successor has not been selected, officials said. Jackson resigned.

This group of men has been known as the "radical" element ever since the AAA was organized

Mullen Says Hasn't Any Liquor Bills

Omahan Speaking Friday To Joint Session Of Legislature.

Flat denial that he is taking any part in the shaping of a liquor control bill by the legislature was made Wednesday morning by Arthur F. Mullen, former democratic national committeeman, in a personal statement to newspaper men at the capitol.

Mullen and former Governor Keith Neville of North Platte, who succeeded Mullen last year as Nebraska's member of the democratic national committee, were found by press representatives talking with Governor Cochran in his private office when the newsmen were admitted for their daily conference with the executive.

Just before this, Mullen had received word from State Representative Henry Bock of David City that he would be invited to address a joint session of the legislature Friday morning at 11 o'clock. He said he would be present and speak at that time. Asked as to what he expected to talk about, Mullen replied:

Rights of States.

"I am interested more than anything else in the old American doctrine of reserving to the states all rights and powers which our national constitution intended to invest in them, and in opposing any unwarranted extension of federal authority over the states."

This was taken to mean that Mullen will discuss, among other things, in his talk to the legis-

Newspaper Ads Favored For Loan Associations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Newspaper advertising was recommended today to federal savings and loan associations as the best means of laying their plans before the public.

The home loan bank board's recommendation was accompanied by a series of advertisements to aid associations not equipped to write and prepare advertisements.

The advertisements were paid for out of a sum of $650,000 authorized in the amended home loan act for "promoting, organizing and developing" savings and loan associations.

COCHRAN TO ASK SPEEDY RAISING OF RELIEF FUND

Governor's Ideas About Source of Revenue Not Disclosed.

Governor Cochran will soon send a special message to the state lawmaking diet urging speedy passage of a measure to raise $2,000,000 a year in special revenue for the purpose of meeting the federal government's conditions necessary for Nebraska to receive further allotments from the national relief administration.

The $2,000,000 must be provided, under stipulations laid down by National Administrator Hopkins, in addition to an estimated equal amount now being contributed by the various counties. If the counties fall down in furnishing their half of Nebraska's total annual quota of $4,000,000, the state will have to make up the difference.

Major Brott, field representative of the national relief administration, called on the governor Tuesday afternoon and told him that March 1 is the time limit in which the state must act, in order to get its share of future relief funds distributed from Washington.

Governor Cochran has not given any hint of the means he will suggest to the legislature for raising the additional money needed. It is generally believed he will not agree with State Senator Callan's plan to impose another 1-cent tax on gasoline for this purpose. While serving as state engineer, Mr. Cochran was opposed at all times to any diversion of gas tax or motor vehicle license revenue for any other use than highway construction, maintenance, and supervision. It is assumed he has not changed his view.

U.S. Winning In War With Bootleggers

Roosevelt Says Supply of Poisonous Drink Is Being Reduced.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today the government has gained the upper hand in the war on bootleggers.

Aroused by more than thirty deaths in upper New York state from bootleg liquor, Mr. Roosevelt ordered a special investigation which revealed the supply came from rubbing alcohol and non-freezing ingredients.

He said at a press conference that the treasury had reduced the supply to bootleggers from these two sources.

He announced co-operation by the Canadian, Cuban, Mexican and British governments in curbing alcohol smuggling.

An annual $40,000,000 in revenue to the government was said to be involved in alcohol smuggling.

Labor Seeks Unionize Auto Steel Trades

Roosevelt Takes Hand In Code Renewal Fight With A. F. of L.

ANSWERS CRITICISM

Federation Ready to Advise Employes If Strike Found Necessary.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor swung into its "big push" to organize the auto and steel industries today after President Roosevelt had taken a step widely regarded as a defense of Donald D. Richberg, target of A. F. of L. criticism.

Taking a personal hand in the row over the auto code renewal, President Roosevelt made public a letter in which he pointedly told the A. F. of L. counsel, Charlton Ogburn, that "it is for the president to determine" whether the automobile labor board should be continued.

The federation had been demanding that this board be scrapped. The A. F. of L. leaders had charged that the board's employe elections and method of collective bargaining were illegal.

When the president renewed the auto code recently and continued the Wolman board, the wrath of A. F. of L. leaders concentrated on Richberg, chief presidential adviser. They called him a "traitor" to labor and he replied they wanted him to serve one group rather than the government.

If the government should annul the board's powers, Mr. Roosevelt said, "it would be placed in the position of preventing the employes from voting."

The letter was a reply to one by Ogburn, who said tension in the automobile industry was "extremely grave" and contended auto workers had the right to submit disputes to the national labor relations board.

Around their executive council table here, federation chieftains were completing plans for industrial unions for autos and steel.

Francis J. Dillon, general organizer, headed toward midwest auto centers to rally workers there in the interest of the United Automobile Workers. He said last night in Atlanta, Ga., that the A. F. of L. stood ready to advise the auto workers if a strike were found necessary.

Ogburn maintained the Wolman board had deliberately chosen factories where A. F. of L. unions were weak for its first elections. In these only a small proportion of workers recorded themselves for the A. F. of L.

HASKIN MEMBER OF GAME BOARD

Benkelman Man Named By Cochran For Five Year Term.

J. Frank Haskin of Benkelman has been named by Governor Cochran as a member of the state game and park board, subject to confirmation by the legislature in joint session, for a term of five years as successor to George B. Hastings of Grant, whose incumbency ended January 15. Hastings is the only republican among five appointive members now serving on the board. Haskin is affiliated with the same party.

Governor Cochran said that Haskin, who is the owner and manager of a general mercantile business at Benkelman, has lived 40 years or more in Dundy county and is known as one of its most representative and successful citizens.

"He was endorsed by sportsmen, business men, and prominent leaders in both political parties in practically every county of southwestern Nebraska" the governor informed newspaper men "In fact, his name was the only one presented from that section.

The position has no regular salary attached to it. Members of the game and park board receive $10 a day and expenses when attending meetings or on official trips, but are limited in that regard to 30 days in any calendar year.

The present membership of the board includes Governor Cochran and State Game Warden O'Connell as chairman and secretary ex officio; J. B. Douglas Tecumseh; Guy Spencer, Omaha; Dr. M M. Sullivan, Spalding; and W J Tiley, North Platte. Tiley is a temporary appointee of former Governor Bryan, who submitted his name to the legislature for confirmation just before going out of office. No action has yet been taken on this appointment.

Demo Attempt To Substitute A Dole Loses By Tie Vote

Final Action on $4,880,000,000 Work Relief Measure Deferred Until Thursday by Senate Committee—Adams' $2,800,000,000 Dole Proposal Loses, 10 to 10.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—A democratic attempt to scuttle the administration's $4,880,000,000 work relief bill by substituting a $2,000,800,000 "dole" lost by a 10 to 10 tie vote in the senate appropriations committee today after it had first been adopted by 9 to 8.

The substitute was offered by Senator Adams (D.-Colo.) and was reported to have been supported by Chairman Glass (D.-Va.) and all but one republican member.

Senator Norbeck (R.-S. D.) was understood to have sided with the administration.

The close shave for the administration bill raised questions over its reception on the floor.

Senator Byrnes (D.-S. C.), administration leader steering the bill against the opposition of Glass and others within his own ranks, as well as the republicans, was in constant communication with the white house as the executive session proceeded.

Sharp Disagreement.

It was apparent that the sharp disagreement on the measure, even among democrats themselves, was continuing and that further concessions to the opposition may be necessary in view of the close vote on the substitute.

One section eliminated by the committee would have authorized the president to make loans or payments to needy individuals and make grants, loans or contracts without restriction.

Another provision eliminated would have permitted the president to acquire by purchase or by the power of eminent domain any real property, then improve it and dispose of it as he saw fit.

Still another section stricken out would have authorized the executive to consolidate, redistribute, abolish or transfer the

Foes Of Cone Bill Change Their Tactics

Approve Moratorium In Hope Senate Will Amend It.

Pinning their hopes on senate modification, opposition to the Cone moratorium bill, H. R. 1, banning suits on notes melted away and the house advanced the measure to third reading, 88 to 3 Wednesday morning.

The bill was amended, however, to bring tax sale foreclosures of real estate under the moratorium, on motion of Rep. William J. Schepman, democrat, Tecumseh, with Cone supporting the amendment.

Steals Cone's Thunder.

Announcing that he would vote for the measure in the hope that the senate will correct its unconstitutional features, Rep. Lester L. Dunn, Lincoln, came up with a new objection. Stealing some of Cone's thunder on behalf of widows and orphans, Dunn declared the bill will destroy any hope of holders of second mortgages of collecting, after the first mortgage has consumed all the equity in the mortgaged property.

"Many widows and orphans hold second mortgages," Dunn said, "and under this bill, banning suits on notes, they will be left without redress after the first mortgage has been satisfied."

Reps. James A. Brown, republican, Lincoln, and Henry L. Pizer, North Platte, and Edward D. McKim, Omaha, democrats, voted against advancement. Rep. Fred A. Wachtler, democrat, Omaha, voted against advancement, but changed his vote.

Hope For Amendment.

Many members who voted for advancement, however, voiced the hope that the senate will work the bill over, in formal explanation of their votes.

Another moratorium bill, this one extending relief to teachers, was advanced to third reading The measure, H. R. 140 by Rep. H. J. Somerhalder, democrat, Guide Rock, extends for two years all certificates held by teachers who have taught three years in Nebraska, unless their certificates have expired. The bill would relieve teachers holding less than life certificates of the necessity of taking additional work to qualify for higher certificates, as required by present law, for a two-year period.

Friends of the bill, which was advanced with no opposition, pointed out that teachers' salaries have been cut so low that they cannot afford to attend summer school or continue college careers to meet present requirements.

Approve F. E. A. Bill.

Approval of an administration bill, H. R. 193, legalizing federal housing bonds and insured mortgages as investments for public funds, banks and so forth was assured when the house advanced the bill to third reading.

Favorable action also was accorded Rep. Marion J. Cushing's bill, H. R. 182 returning auto registrations to a semi-annual basis, except trucks, which were left on a quarterly basis.

Two more homestead tax exemption bills, H. R. Nos. 9 and 88, met death in committee. The committee on constitutional amendments recommended indefinite postponement of Rep. Otto Bentzen's bill setting up a $4 000 exemption on homesteads and Rep. Martin Schroeder's bill raising the ante to $5,000 as allowed by Florida. Early in the session the house sustained the finance committee's death sentence to Rep Henry Obbink's bill allowing a $3 000 homestead exemption

OPPOSES BOOST IN REALTY TAX

Throop Advises Solons Against Higher Land Burden for Relief.

Chairman Frank D. Throop of the Nebraska state relief committee urged the house Wednesday morning not to increase the tax burden on real estate in raising the state's quota of the $4,000,000 needed before March 1 for relief.

"I am not advocating a possible way to raise the state's share," Chairman Throop said. From the floor Rep. Trenmor Cone, voluble Valley legislator, wanted to know what views Mr. Throop held on taxation for relief.

Two Year Limit.

"I don't think it is our job to dictate to the legislature just how the money shall be raised," Mr. Throop answered, "but whatever method is adopted should be for only a two year period." He explained that the general hope

Mrs. Dionne Is Bewildered By Glamor Of Chicago Visit

Mother of Quintuplets Is Shy, Diffident Country Lass.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6—(AP)— She is very different from what one might expect, this mother of quintuplets and five other children, ten youngsters in all—and only 26 years old!

A simple country lass, Mrs. Oliva Dionne has come out of her Canadian north woods in a plain homemade brown crepe dress to be housed in a regal suite in the Congress hotel where several presidents have stayed.

Child-like is this woman, this world's most widely known mother of today, who has little to say and that in French only.

It was with Spartan courage that the shy, diffident Callander, Ont., mother, whose longest railroad trip was her honeymoon journey to Ottowa in 1925, faced the repeated blare of photographers' flashlights, the onslaught of reportorial questions, the awe-inspiring equipment of movie reels.

With quiet dignity she has adjusted herself to the almost constant hectic bustle about her. Her wide brown eyes at times mirror utter bewilderment amid chattering inquisitve strangers babbling at her in a tongue strange to her. Now and then she flashes an odd half-smile at her slim equally quiet husband.

At times she gives the impression that to her it is all a dream—just a dream that she today was to shop in some of the country's biggest department stores, th like of which she has never seen, for toys, for clothes, beautiful new clothes, including a dinner dress.

On the program of the Dionne's few weeks in the United States—their first trip to this country—is a visit to a night club, and then appearances on theatrical stages in Chicago and Detroit and probably other cities.

NEBRASKA UNI. PROPOSES NEW BUILDING PLAN

Million Dollar Program Presented To State Planning Board.

A million-dollar building program was proposed by University of Nebraska officials to the state planning board Tuesday afternoon as it closed a two-day session after receiving preliminary plans for public works improvements in southeastern Nebraska totalling about $6,000,000. The board is taking an inventory of all possible projects in the state out of which will be formed a program for participation in President Roosevelt's $4,000,000,000 work relief fund.

Chancellor E. A. Burnett and Finance Secretary L. E. Gunderson appeared before the board to announce the university's campus construction program. They gave no details, asking and receiving permission to appear before the board after Feb. 15 to present the program in detail. The board of regents of the institution will meet on that date to consider and approve the plans.

Of the approximately $6,000,000 worth of projects proposed, the city of Lincoln accounted for $3,500,000, including a $1,100,000 board of education construction program. Seventeen other cities and towns submitted proposals covering nearly every type of public improvements.

Move Is Launched To Abolish Utility Holding Concerns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Public utility holding companies faced the prospect today of an attempt to pass federal regulation frankly designed to put them out of business within five years.

Legislation for regulation of the holding companies by the securities and exchange commission and the power commission was whipped into shape for introduction in both houses before nightfall. The job of starting the measure's march through congress was entrusted to Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) and Representative Rayburn (D-Tex), who attended a white house conference.

On the face of a tentative agreement reached in discussions with the president, proposals for a levy to tax holding companies out of existence appeared in the discard. Proponents of taxes against such corporations went ahead, however, with plans for a separate measure to obtain some revenue from them.

The conference was attended by President Roosevelt, Secretary Morgenthau, Attorney General Cummings, Senator Norris (R-Neb). Wheeler and Rayburn.

$1,122,423 Allotted By Committee; Funds For March Needed.

Drawing upon its reserve funds, Nebraska's relief committee Tuesday afternoon set up full family budgets in alloting $1,122,423 of federal relief funds to counties participating in the federal relief program. The period covered runs from February 8 to March 8.

The state was given little more than a third of the $1,600,000 requested for February needs and the committee had to decide on either reducing family budgets; granting full budgets for part of the month; or draw on its reserve funds to set up full budgets for the entire month.

Frank D. Throop, chairman of the committee following the meeting, said that all reserve funds had not been used, but that additional funds would be needed for March. After the meeting the entire committee held a conference with Gov. Cochran, but according to Throop made no recmendations on how the state could raise the $4,000,000 asked by Washington as Nebraska's share of the relief load. Federal Administrator Hopkins previously stated that unless the money was provided for by March 1, FERA funds would be cut off from the state.

The relief committee, according to Throop, were impressed with the shortage of relief funds. The Tuesday meeting was the first held by the new committee appointed by Gov. Cochran. Mr. Throop was elected permanent chairman, Dr. F. W. Hagey of Omaha vice chairman and Haynes, secretary, Mrs. Frances Decker was named recording secretary for the committee.. The committee voted to ask the FERA for $5,000 to ai dthe co-operative self help organization at Kearney.

According to the February budget 50,156 families are now on relief rolls in the state. Douglas county heads the list with a case load of 14,687 and was given $400,596. Lancaster's 4,390 families were given $112,965.

Recommended allotments for February 9 to March 8.

BETTING BILLS TOSSED AROUND

Two Pari-Mutuel Acts Are Argued Before Committee.

Coming into the stretch on their pari-mutuel betting deliberations the senate committee on miscellaneous subjects Tuesday night heard both sides of the arguments on the "Ak-Sar-Ben bill," S. F. 14, and the "county fair managers' bill," S. F. 93.

Both bills would regulate pari-mutuel betting on horse races, but differ in licensing provisions. The measure sponsored by the Ak-Sar-Ben exposition would require Omaha licensees to pay $200 to the state, plus a 15 cent tax on each person admitted at the gate, while the McGowan bill, S. F. 93 would levy a flat two per cent of the 10 per cent sum which licensees retain from wagers to meet expenses.

In addition the McGowan bill would license trainers and jockeys—a function which should be left to the state racing commission according to Ak-Sar-Ben representatives.

Baldridge On Hand.

Mac Baldridge of Omaha was the bulwark of the Ak-Sar-Ben forces supporting S. F. 14, introduced by Sens. Dick Regan, P. L. Cady, Sam Howell, and O. Edwin Schultz. Pleading for "a two-year breathing spell for Ak-Sar-Ben to get started," Baldridge declared that the exposition couldn't operate under the McGowan bill.

Stanley Matzke of Seward, representing the county fair managers' association, Rep. J. S. Steele of Kimball who introduced a duplicate of the McGowan bill in the house, Sen. McGowan and R. C. Johnson, president of the fair managers, upheld S. F. 93. They contended their bill was of greater benefit to Nebraska agriculture.

Charge Omaha.

Charges by Rep. Steele that "Omaha wants to take over the state fair" were denied by nearly all speakers, including other McGowan supporters.

Bitterest discussion of the evening developed when Steele declared that previous committee hearings "were held before our men got here." He said after representatives had been summoned for a hearing on a certain day none was held, but Sen. McGowan explained that the difficulty arose when he failed to communicate with Steele.

S. F. 14 was defended by Sen. W. C. Bullard of McCook. Pointing out that Ak-Sar-Ben had campaigned for the betting amendment, he said "They may be getting the big end of the deal in this bill but I'm for letting them have it for two years."

Other speakers for the McCowan - Wells measure were George O'Malley, speaker of the house at the last legislative session, and George Brandeis of Omaha, prominent horse breeder, U. S. Renne of Washington county also spoke.

Phonograph Records In Vallee Case Are Due for Appearance

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—Records of telephone conversations, which once before popped up in the legal entanglements of Rudy Vallee and his estranged wife, Fay Webb Vallee, are due for an appearance in Supreme court tomorrow.

Hyman Bushel, Vallee's lawyer, has a portable phonograph on which he wants to play for Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo what are supposed to be records of "tapped" telephone conversations in which Mrs. Vallee engaged while she was residing in New York.

Justic Cotillo is hearing her application for more than $100 a week separate maintenance, but there was no session today so that Rudy could check up on his yearly profits.

Affidavits giving records of telephone conversations were introduced before the appellate division last year. They were purported to have been conversations between Mrs. Vallee and Garry Leon, adagio dancer, whose first wife sued Mrs. Vallee for $100,000 charging she alienated the dancer's affections.

Leon, who at that time denied any undue friendship for Mrs. Vallee, announced yesterday that he will marry his dancing partner, Marcia Mace, at Agua Caliente, Mexico, on Sunday. He was divorced from his second wife in Los Angeles last week.

Today

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE.

Big question of the day: "What will the Supreme court decide about the gold clause?"

If you saw two collections of savages discussing the merit of cowry shells compared with wampum as "money," you would say "Poor savages." What are we but "poor savages," worrying about the metallic or paper symbols of wealth, not realizing that earth plus intelligent use of power is the real wealth and the symbol unimportant.

Chicago reports the latest "American Type" murder. Thomas E. Maloy, veteran head of Chicago's "Motion Picture Operators' union," was killed in the usual way, as he sat at the wheel of his automobile.

The government says Mr. Maloy's career as a "union labor leader" was profitable. He had been indicted and released under $10,000 bail on a charge of failure to report three hundred and fifty thousand dollars income before the assassin's "slugs" canceled that and other accusations.

If the leader of a motion picture union got that income you wonder how and from whom they got it, also what other motion picture operators who got no such sum think about it.

In addition to income tax difficulties, Mr. Maloy had been questioned in connection with three killings, one of a man expelled from the union and later killed in Mr. Maloy's office. Since the man is dead it is necessary to emphasize the fact that nothing had been proved against him whe one "automatic" and one shotgun "brought instant death."

Fortunately, not everybody in the United States is "under water," as bankers put it, meaning "insolvent."

The Lord tempers the wind to the plucked goose. In fifteen days the Miami race track took four million dollars through its betting machinery, besides other millions in admissions. Dog races, at night, took what was left, and crowds continue to pour southward.

FLOYD HAMILTON NOW IN CUSTODY

Spur Search For Brother Raymond, Southwest's No. 1 Bad Man.

DALLAS, Tex., Feb. 6—(AP)—Raymond Hamilton, the southwest's most-wanted hoodlum, was sought today with renewed energy by officers who drew encouragement from the capture of his brother and from indications that Raymond was seriously wounded in his escape from a trap here.

Floyd Hamilton, elder brother of the bank robbery specialist, was en route here from Shreveport, La., where he was captured yesterday. He denied he was the man with Raymond when the latter broke out of a police trap in a hail of bullets Monday night.

Hopes for the early capture of Raymond Hamilton were raised by the discovery of blood stains in the abandoned gas service truck which he stole for his getaway from the officers' ambush.

Blood traces at shoulder height in the driver's seat led Police Capt. J. W. Fritz to express the opinion he had been hard hit. Other stains, on the cushion and floor board were interpreted as meaning he had been struck a second time in the region of the knee.

A report that Raymond had been seen in downtown Dallas early today sent police scurrying over the city in a fruitless hunt.

The report was based on a meeting between two automobiles, with witnesses saying a woman got out of one car, handed a rifle to a young man and said, "now be careful, Ray."

Steamer Refloated

SEATTLE, Feb. 6—(AP)—The steamship Lewis Luckenbach went aground today in the strait of Juan de Fuca, near Port Townsend, but refloated herself a few hours later, the coast guard reported.

Capt. Louis Nash of the intercoastal freighter wirelessed the coast guard cutter Red Wing, at 4 a. m., Pacific standard time, "We are off now, and in no danger of going aground again."

The captain did not report any damage to his ship.

'EMERGENCY' TO BE DECLARED IF GOLD ACT VOID

Proclamation Would Be Issued Instantly By Pres. Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—A presidential proclamation declaring a "national emergency" and bringing sweeping executive powers into action to steady conditions was reported authoritatively today to be the first administration move planned if the Supreme court rules adversely on the gold cases.

Such a proclamation, it was understood, would follow the court's decision within a matter of minutes, clamping on emergency restrictions to stabilize markets pending legislative remedies.

That a proclamation forms part of the legal preparations which have occupied treasury and justice experts for weeks was conceded in informed quarters, even though the same officials continued to express confidence the court will uphold the government.

Which Power Unknown.

Just which of the many powers vested in him Mr. Roosevelt may choose to exercise turned on the court's interpretation of the government's action in abrogating gold clauses in contracts.

Legal analysts declined even to designate what laws might be the foundation of a proclamation. But here are some of the things President Roosevelt may do by proclaiming a "national emergency": mk,-af kettde

FAVOR $100,000 LIBRARY ANNEX

Addition Will Be Made To Main Building If U. S. Help Given.

Construction of an addition to the main building at Fourteenth and N streets, and restoration of salaries reductions of 10 and 15 per cent of five executives, were approved late Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of the city library board. The board also approved use of the College View branch building by a home nursing class in the suburb.

Construction of the proposed addition will depend upon whether a special committee is successful in prosecuting a claim for federal funds, when available. The cost is estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. M. A. Hyde, August Eiche, and A. W. Richardson are the members of the committee.

Double Space.

The need of more room at the main building has been apparent for several years, members of the board said, and plans already prepared contemplate an extension to the east and along the north and south sides. The addition would more than double the present space, virtually all of the new room being given over to stacks and reading rooms, including a reading room in the basement.

The restoration of salaries to their former levels was made possible through recent economies in operation. All employes of the library are now back on their old pay basis, the workers in the lower pay brackets having been given an increase several months ago.

Bills amounting to $4,755 were allowed. Of this $800 was for new books and $2,763 for salaries and wages.

The report of Miss Lulu Horne, librarian was accepted.

Although January receipts of the library lacked $8 of reaching the income of $576.94 of January, 1934, the 1,481 new patrons and cards renewed last month was a gain of 173 over the same month a year ago. Circulation dropped, however, from 84,228 a year ago, to 82,665 last month, the losses being about equally divided between adult and juvenile readers. In the juvenile section the drop was shown to be almost entirely in the schools.

Here's News! Not A Penny Is Spent On Bonding Probe

Charging evidence of collusion, the Rasdal committee in the house investigating the bonding business in Nebraska submitted its report Tuesday afternoon and was discharged. Rep. M. E. Rasdal, republican, Ogallala, chairman of the committee, read the report in which bond companies were taken to task for making unwarranted demands upon the state for higher premiums for public officials. None of the $500 appropriation given the committee was spent, the report said.

To Have The Best Cough Remedy, Mix It At Home

Quicker Relief. Big Saving! So Easy! No Cooking!

This famous recipe is used by millions of housewives, because there is no other way to obtain such a dependable, effective cough remedy. It's so simple to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough remedy, far superior to anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, lasting relief. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and clears the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Moose To Study Acts Of Massachuett Co.

State Insurance Director Conn W. Moose announced Tuesday that in accordance with the request of the Comstock special committee named by the Nebraska house of representatives his department will undertake an investigation into the question whether or not the Massachusetts Bonding Co was recently engaged in a conspiracy to control and raise rates for surety bonds of public officials

The inquiry is to be made as an aftermath of the trouble over securing a new bond for State Treasurer Hall and the consequent tying up of state funds for three and a half weeks in January.

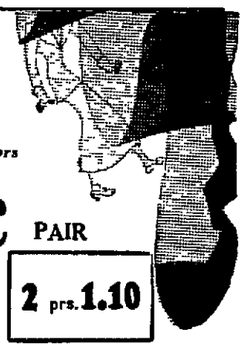

Mr. Moose said he had not yet definitely fixed the date for the probe to start, but that a reasonable time would be given the company to appear and make its showing after notice is given.

ADVISES CHAIN STORE TAXATION

Hardware Men Told Distribution System Is In Danger.

OMAHA, Feb. 6 — (AP) — State taxation of chain stores was advocated by J. E. Woodmansee, president of the Kansas City chamber of commerce, in an address Wednesday before the annual convention of the Nebraska Retail Hardware association.

"It is the only way we can control the menace that is threatening our distributing system. Already 20 states have such a tax and you should get busy in Nebraska, even if it means you have to go out and raise a fund to fight," he said.

A spirited discussion followed the talk and Woodmansee defended his position that the "time tried manufacturer-wholesaler-retailer system is the only economic method of distribution."

Unless the retailers reciprocate, many large wholesalers will be forced to "sell direct to everybody," he predicted.

Referring to code matters, Woodmansee told the hardware dealers that "your retail code doesn't amount to much." He alleged it was dictated by a certain large chain store organization.

Former Governor A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota, special representative of the federal housing administration, outlined the possibilities for sales and employment under provisions of the national housing act, and J. S. Stewart of Lincoln spoke on "Merchandising for Home Building and Repairing.

Unemployment Bill Discussed By Barth

John Barth, nationally known authority on unemployment insurance, explained the present unemployment bill pending in congress to members of the Nebraska Insurance institute, at a meeting held in Omaha. Doubt was expressed by Mr. Barth whether the 3 to 5 per cent excise tax used to support the measure would be adequate.

Mr. Barth's final admonition was that the voters should proceed cautiously and upon purely scientific analyses in fostering upon the government such a large obligation with its many contingencies.

Norris and Eberhard To Address Solons

Senator Norris and former Gov. A. D. Eberhard of Minnesota have accepted an invitation to address a joint session of the legislature Friday, February 15, it was announced in the house Wednesday morning.

The viaduct, to be built by federal funds, will be 396 feet in length and will eliminate a dangerous jog on highway No. 77.

Senate Considers Pension Bills For Omaha's Firemen

Most of the state senate's time Tuesday afternoon was taken up with the consideration of S. F. 97 and 98, two Omaha bills relating to pensions for retired members of that city's fire department, their widows and other dependents.

These proposals were approved for passage, including a proviso to bar adopted children of firemen's widows from receiving any benefits. Department members are required to contribute 2 per cent of thier wages during periods of service to the pension fund. The top limit on payments to beneficiaries is cut from $75 a month to $50.

The senate also advanced to third reading S. F. 50, which raises the annual license renewal fee for optometrists from $1 to $3, the extra $2 to go to the examing board of that profession.

HOUSE MOVES NAME SPECIAL LIQUOR GROUP

Omahans Resent Sudden Action; Threaten To Resign In Body.

Chairman W. F. Haycock of the house committee on committees Wednesday was expected to report membership of the special liquor committee, voted by the house Tuesday afternoon in a significant surprise move.

Registering a sudden reversal of early-session sentiment, the house voted 58 to 26, on motion of Rep. Otto C. Weber, democrat, Leigh, to take liquor bills out of the hands of the judiciary committee, and turn them over to a special committee made up of two members from each congressional district.

The move was interpreted by many as an attack by moderate wets who are opposed to sale of liquor by the drink. Chairmaned by Rep. Edward J. Dugan, Omaha, the judiciary lists three other Omaha democrats on its personnel of 11, eight demos and three republicans. Weber, introducer of the motion to name the special liquor committee, is author of one of the seven liquor bills pending before the judiciary. Rep. Fred A. Wachtler, Omaha, member of the judiciary, is author of another liquor bill.

Angered by this latest slap, the Omaha democratic delegation threatened to resign all committee appointments. The Omahans were scheduled to get together Tuesday night and talk things over among themselves, and it was probable that cooler heads would prevail.

Dugan Heads Opposition.

In opposing the motion, Representative Dugan, as spokesman for his Omaha colleagues on the judiciary, asserted that all of them are prepared to give every liquor bill, as well as all measures, fair and conscientious consideration. Dugan reminded the house that he had scheduled public hearings on liquor legislation, and asked the house not to embarrass him.

Representative Haycock, democratic floor leader, informed the house that Governor Cochran, who recommended a special liquor committee in his inaugural address, no longer insisted upon it. Administration forces early in the session abandoned the idea of a special liquor committee after the house, by a narrow margin, voted to send unicameral legislation to a special committee.

Week's Respite Given On Sunday Dance Rule

County Permits Opening Next Sunday Since Orchestras Already Contracted.

County commissioners granted a week's grace period before ordering enforcement of their resolution which will close dance halls under their jurisdiction from 12 midnight on Saturday until 7 o'clock Monday morning.

The action followed a complaint by proprietors of the Starlit dance hall, eight miles south on Fourteenth street, who said they had previously contracted an orchestra for next Sunday evening. Under the contract they would have to pay the orchestra anyway since they are unable to give the required 10-day cancellation notice. The Pla-Mor party house is in the same dilemma so commissioners decided to wait until midnight of February 16 before making the law effective.

A check of dance license fee receipts in County Treasurer Alber's office indicates that not all establishments have been taking out licenses as required by the law passed in 1931. Licenses paid during 1934 were Walter H. Jensen, 1105 West P street; Capitol Beach; Pla-Mor Party House; Emerald dance hall; Loan Oak Party House, Emerald; and J. R. Hutchinson.

Commissioners estimate that probably ten dance halls or road houses within their jurisdiction are illegally operating without license. The statute provides that persons operating such places of public amusement outside the corporate limits of cities or villages shall be punished by a fine of from $10 to $50 upon conviction of the offense. Each day of operation without a license constitutes a separate offense under the statute. The license fee is $5 and must be renewed each year.

RE-ELECT TEACHERS.

YORK, Neb., Feb. 6 — (AP) — Supt. E. W. Wiltse and all teachers in the York public schools were re-elected Tuesday by the board of education. Wiltse is now serving his first year. A committee of the board was named to study possibilities of obtaining a PWA grant to construct an addition to the present high school building.

Green, Omaha Colored Youth, Checker Tourney's "Dark Horse"

Unknown and unannounced, Omaha's lone entry in the annual Nebraska checker tournament, now in progress at the Lincoln Y. M. C. A., is the genuine tourney "dark horse." He is Leslie Green, 22-year-old colored youth, who finished his first day's play with six wins, two draws and no defeats, to lead the pack.

G. E. Grosvener of Central City, newly elected president of the association, picked up two wins in his morning games to come into a tie with Green, leading the seventeen in class A. Then additional players were battling in class B, making the entry list of 27 the largest since 1927.

Ed Anderson of Holdrege was leading the contestants in the second bracket late in the morning round, with three wins and five draws. All other players in his section had lost at least two games.

Carlson Not Enfered.

Adolph Carlson of Lincoln, winner of the tourney the past three years, and secretary-treasurer of the association, refused to enter the competition, although most of the players were anxious to "get a crack at him." Peter O'Brien of Kearney, 78, is the oldest man in the tourney, but a year older than L. T. Brooking of Funk, organizer of the tournament plan, and four times champion. Brooking is vice president of the group.

The high four in class A will play a six game "knock down," and the two high will play a ten game series for the championship.

BOND COMPANY QUIZ FEB. 18

Massachusetts Firm To Appear Before State Insurance Chief.

February 18 at 10 a. m. has been set by State Insurance Director Conn W. Moose as the time when the inquiry asked for by a legislative committee into the question whether the Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co. or its agents were involved in a conspiracy with other surety concerns and their representatives to control and raise rates on official bonds and other fidelity instruments.

This investigation, an outgrowth of the recent difficulties experienced by State Treasurer Hall in getting a new bond for one million dollars, will be a thoroughgoing one, in deference to the legislature's expressed wish, Insurance Director Moose said.

"We will ask the company to send all correspondence and records from its home office bearing on the matter under inquiry, and also to furnish data regarding the rates it is charging in other states," he informed The Star.

Formal notice is being mailed to the Massachusetts Bonding Co. at Boston citing it to appear on the date mentioned and disclose whether it has "entered into any contract, understanding, or combination" bearing upon rates to be charged for bonds.

Documents called for cover the period between December 1, 1934, and January 31, 1935.

The company is further directed to produce any contracts or understandings it may have with a central organization known as the Towner agency for surety rates, or in lieu thereof have some responsible agent on hand who can testify orally to the nature, extent, and effect of any such agreement.

Oppose Expansion Of Local Business Zones

Members Of Board Assert There Is No Real Demand For Additional Mercantile Places.

There will be no action by the city council on the zoning appeal of Mrs. M. Elsie Colman, Twenty-seventh and N streets, until after the return from the east of Max Kier, city attorney, Mayor Fleming announced Wednesday, following a conference with the zoning board.

Mrs. Colman has asked that her property be reclassified for local business use, and the zoning board twice has refused to recommend the change.

In the opinion of the zoning board members there is no justification for enlarging local business classifications. "Demand for business locations is decreasing," E. C. Folsom declared. "This has resulted in a taxation problem that the council should study with a view to providing relief. Because of the increase of local business properties, stores have sprung up in all sections of the residential district and there now are many vacant buildings on O street east of Thirteenth street."

An equitable solution of the problem, in the opinion of Mr. Folsom, would be increasing the local business, notwithstanding it value of all property zoned for may not be in actual use. "Unless this is done," he declared, "the congested area of the city will be compelled to bear an unjust portion of the tax, while valuable properties in the local business districts are being taxed at little or no more than residential property."

According to D. L. Erickson, also a member of the board, since zoning was established here, there has been a wide expansion in local business zoning, notwithstanding there has not been any material increase in population.

Omahans Confer Here In Connection With National Flower Show

A group of Omaha businessmen headed by Mayor Towl and Glen B. Eastburn, commissioner of the chamber of commerce, conferred with Lincoln businessmen and flower enthusiasts Wednesday noon, in connection with the national flower show in Omaha, March 30 to April 7. At least 2,000 tickets will be available to Lincoln people who want to attend the show, Mr. Eastburn said following the conference.

According to Mr. Eastburn, the show promises to be one of the most successful in point of attendance, that has ever been held. Already there has been an unusual demand for tickets, large blocks being requested from as far away as the extreme western part of the state.

Other speakers in the Omaha group were Mayor Towl, and Glenn F. Wilcox, general chairman of arrangements in Omaha. Mayor Towl said that the show "is more than an Omaha affair. It belongs to the entire central region of the country."

In the delegation were also Frank P. Fogerty, chamber of commerce publicity director; C. Ray McKay, superintendent of the city welfare department; and J. W. Sharpe, city passenger agent for the Burlington.

Chadron Woman Killed In Mexico; Meningitis Scare Is Subsiding

Mrs. Edith A. Reitz Victim Of Highway Crash In South

Woman Companion From Chicago Also Killed In Collision.

MEXICO, D. F., Feb. 6—(AP)—The United States consulate today identified the dead victims of an automobile accident yesterday on the Mexico-Cuernavaca road as Mrs. Edith A. Reitz of Chadron, Neb., and Mrs. Helen M. Bunn of Chicago.

The victims' husbands, Pearl Reitz and Henry Edward Bunn were not as seriously injured as was at first supposed and they returned here from the scene of the accident to arrange for the shipment of the bodies.

Investigation showed the chauffeur, Ignacio Falcon, was driving on the wrong side of the road and at high speed and ran head-on into a truck coming around a curve. The chauffeur, blamed for the accident, was instantly killed and a Mexican interpreter accompanying the tourists suffered a fractured skull and is not expected to live.

The body of Mrs. Reitz was sent to Omaha Wednesday night and that of Mrs. Bunn to St. Louis.

Leaves Two Children.

CHADRON, Neb., Feb. 6—(AP)—Mrs. Pearl A. Reitz of Chadron, who was killed Tuesday in an automobile accident near Cuernavaca, Mexico, was the wife of Pearl A. Reitz, widely known building material contractor. A telegram from Reitz, who was vacationing with his wife in Mexico, was received here by Edwin D. Crites but the message gave no details of the accident.

Reitz is a lumber dealer here and was interested financially in a sand and gravel pit at Oral, S. D.

Mrs. Reitz is survived by two children, Percilla and Richard; her father, H. F. Copeland of Hamburg, N. Y.; and brother, Henry Copeland of Syracuse, N. Y.

The children were not with their parents on the trip. Friends of the family said they did not know Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bunn. The body will be brought here for burial.

Pleads Not Guilty Killing Ida Hanson

Charles Neal Arraigned In Colorado In Murder Of Former Columbus Milliner.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., Feb. 6—(AP)—Charles W. Neal, former Colorado convict, pleaded not guilty Tuesday to a charge of murdering Miss Ida Hanson, Columbus, Neb., milliner. His trial was set for March 18.

Neal was arrested in Iowa 18 months after the body of Miss Hanson, badly burned and disfigured, was discovered in a prospector's pit near Florissant, Colo. She had been beaten to death.

After her disappearance, relatives in Nebraska received a telegram signed with her name which said she had been married and was going to South America on a honeymoon.

Neal admitted he had business transactions with Miss Hanson shortly before she disappeared and said he purchased her car, but denied knowledge of her death.

LYONS, Neb., Feb. 6—(AP)—Two men posing as customers held up the filling station operated by Bruce Gerch here Tuesday night and escaped with approximately $15 in cash which they took from a workshop in the rear of the station. When Gerch was testing the oil in the car after filling the gasoline tank one of the men poked a revolved in Gerch's ribs and marched him into the office, Mrs. Gerch was in the office, but neither she nor her husband was threatened.

Both teams left Wednesday for Denver to take part in the annual Rocky Mountain speech conference Friday.

Jurors Are Called For Trial Of Dafoe

Man Charged With Second Degree Murder Of Homer McCue To Appear in Court Next Monday.

TECUMSEH, Neb., Feb. 6—(AP)—The regular venire of 24 jurors for the September term of district court here, with an added list of 26 names, has been drawn for service in the second degree murder trial of Frank G. Dafoe, jr., 33, of Tecumseh. Judge Raper set next Monday for the opening of the trial.

Judge Raper disqualified Ed Mahoney to act as sheriff in the case because Mahoney is a material witness for the state. County Clerk Charles E. Stewart will serve as sheriff.

The judge also ruled the defense could have access to the exhibits of the state, which include the shotgun which caused the death last January 13 of Homer McCue, 37, Tecumseh road worker, in connection with whose death Dafoe was indicted.

McCue, wounded fatally, was found in the yard of a farm near here on which Dafoe had been living. The defendant pleaded not guilty when arraigned and is at liberty under $8,000 bond.

FAIRBURY WOMAN PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ARSON

FAIRBURY, Neb., Feb. 6—(AP)—Mrs. Irene Young of Fairbury is awaiting arraignment in District court on a charge of arson in connection with a fire at the home here of Joe Morrison. Mrs. Young, housekeeper for Morrison, pleaded guilty to the charge before County Judge E. R. Bee Monday and was bound over to District court. The fire occurred last Saturday. Sheriff Emil Ackman said she admitted she intended to burn Morrison's clothes. The blaze, which originated in a clothes closet, was discovered an hour after it started. Mrs. Young is confined to a Fairbury hospital with pneumonia.

TRI-COUNTY UP AT EARLY DATE

Johnson Says Officials Assure Study In Ample Time.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—George E. Johnson, consulting engineer for Nebraska's Tri-county project, said today public works officials had assured him the project's revised plans would be studied in plenty of time to include it in the new works program, if the project is approved.

Although the revised plans have been on file for about two weeks and Johnson has been here ready to furnish additional information if needed, he said today the PWA engineers had not yet started to study the plans.

Johnson is on a month's leave of absence from his engineering duties on the Columbus power project, a PWA development, and had hoped the Tri-county plans would be studied quickly while he was available here.

Wants Argument On Motion Of Wyoming

Burke Asks Supreme Court Not to Act Request To Dismiss Water Suit Of Nebraska.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(AP)—Senator Burke of Nebraska has asked the Supreme court to hear counsel in oral argument before acting on the motion of Wyoming to dismiss a suit brought by Nebraska involving the use of the waters of the North Platte river. Wyoming contended the suit must be dismissed because Nebraska failed to make Colorado and the secretary of the interior parties to the action.

Nebraska is asserting it is being deprived of water from the rivers by reservoirs already constructed in Wyoming, and that its supply will be further diminished by reservoirs under construction.

Meanwhile, Secretary Ickes said there has been no decision on the recommendation of Dr. Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, for a survey of the North Platte river in Nebraska.

PLATTSMOUTH TO REOPEN SCHOOLS

Meningitis Victims In Hospital Said To Be Recovering.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Feb. 6—(AP)—Schools will be allowed to reopen Thursday by the city health board, which has modified the drastic ban on public gatherings invoked Monday after the fourth meningitis case was reported here within eight days.

The board acted upon recommendation of State Director of Public Health P. H. Bartholomew, who suggested strict quarantine of persons who have had contact with meningitis; reopening of schools to permit daily inspection and segregatio n of pupils suspected of having the disease; observation and treatment of students who remain home from school; reopening of other public places and exclusion of children under 17 therefrom and banning of school athletic contests and dances.

Patients Improving.

OMAHA, Feb. 5—(AP)—Two Plattsmouth meningitis victims are reported "practically well" at an Omaha hospital, while a third victim, Phyllis Mae Bourke, 6, is reported reacting satisfactorily to the serum administered to her Monday. Diagnosis of her case in the incipient stages of the disease was expected to result in a quick control of the malady. Charles Robert Painter, 6, and Donald Lee Gorder, 12, are the patients who are said to be out of danger.

Catholic Women Are Against Amendment

Organization At Omaha Adopts Resolution Opposing Child Labor Enactment.

OMAHA, Feb. 6—(AP)—After Bishop Joseph F. Rummel, Tuesday asserted the federal child labor amendment would, if ratified, constitute a "drastic disturbance" in the lives of 45 million citizens of the United States, the Omaha deanery council of Catholic women adopted a resolution opposing ratification of the amendment by the Nebraska legislature.

Declaring he was in sympathy with every movement which tended to restrict labor of children, Bishop Rummel said the laws of Nebraska already give adequate safeguard against child labor exploitation and branded the proposed act as "too broad, unlimited and unqualified."

The council of Catholic women expressed sympathy for Catholics in Mexico and deplored religious persecution in another resolution.

CHURCHILL AT SIXTY

"WE HAVE so much more than any other nation to lose," Winston Churchill writes in his engrossing first installment of the story of his life, now appearing under the title "My Life."

"All the decent freedom and tolerance of our island life, all that wonderful structure of dominions and authority our ancestors built up, and which our generation valiantly has sustained, seem to me to stand on foundations which are at the present time increasingly precarious. There is one class who say: 'All this empire stuff is out of date. Let everyone self-determinate how he pleases.' There is another class who say: 'Who cares for liberty? What we want is dictatorial authority, some wonderful strong man who would order us all about should be substituted for our constitution.'

"But I am against all this. I am for a limited monarchy and a free parliament and the undoubted glorious right of every true Briton to criticise any government of which he is not a member. I do not know whether this is conservatism or liberalism."

With that uncanny touch which made Winston Churchill not only an outstanding British statesman, a distinguished diplomat, and also a glowing figure as a writer and a novelist, in the story of his life he speaks early of those things about which men are thinking. For men are thinking the thoughts which come from Mr. Churchill.

Whither the route? Is it up over the mountains into unexplored areas or does it lead along the well beaten path of the familiar river valley? Each day the question is precipitated in the minds of both men and women, by these swiftly changing events, by the disappearance of old faces and the appearance of new, by unforeseen and unanticipated currents which project new crises and new thought. And Mr. Churchill speaks not as the adventuresome youth who dreamed romance in empire building, whose pulse quickened whenever he permitted thoughts of his own beloved country to wander along the highways of the earth. He spoke as a man of sixty, tempered and made cautious by the storms through which he passed.

It is only natural that he should look back upon the reflected glory of the past. At sixty, one is very apt to do that. One is very likely to see greater beauty in glancing back over the shoulders than in attempting to penetrate what lies ahead. Familiarity breeds a brand of loyalty and appreciation. The things we like best are those which we know better. The things upon which we are unable to pass judgment or to make up our minds are those with which we have had little or no contact. Ever the world has been like this.

But of those profound changes which Churchill mentions—the distaste for representative institutions, for freedom, for democracy, or for constitutional government, and the increasing hunger for strong men upon whom weary bodies may place their weight—are neither new nor novel.

It has happened before; it will happen again, so long as the flesh is weak and the mind changeable. The whole history of liberty presents the same fluctuating arc which characterizes the economic march of nations and people. There are times of high prosperity and sharp depression. There are years when the spirit and flame of freedom burn brightly, and there are years when they go into eclipse.

This is not to discount the seriousness of the problems which confront not only the American people, but all civilized nations. With but short breathing spaces, always they have been serious. There is something in humanity which hopes for better things. And that spark tends to spur people on, to goad them into action, to force them to set their pegs just a little higher than before, to hope and to endeavor to achieve improved standards and higher ideals. And then they weary of the struggle. Within the last twenty years, this has taken place in the United States. We were swept forward in an irresistible surge of idealism and liberalism under Woodrow Wilson. We dreamed high dreams of progressive government in the earlier years of his administration and then enlarged the horizon to include a world freed of war. All of these dreams came down with a smash and deliberately we turned our backs upon them. We dreamed magnificent castles of the abolition of poverty and of the dawn of a new economic era in America, in which all would be prosperous and happy. That was blown into a thousand bits with an explosion heard around the world. And out of it, we dreamed another of social equality and economic stability and even today many are shaking their heads and in some places, snapping and snarling.

But the march is forward. And in spite of all the seeming contradictions, the failures, and the disappointments, the world itself has surged forward irresistibly, although the players on the stage at any given designated period cannot see the action taking place.

Signing Contracts.

DESPITE the bitter attacks, the early returns show that Nebraska farmers are signing their corn-hog contracts with a great deal of alacrity. It was to be expected. The vote taken in this state last fall could not project all of the factors which entered in. Some of the opposition came from those friendly to the program, but as in the instance of the wheat reduction plan, resentful that their neighbors who did not sign were free to plant as large an acreage as they desired. And a part of it overflowed on all of the AAA program.

Yet the fact remains that in a season of virtual crop failure in every section of the state, the main support of the farm in recent months has been the checks received under the terms of corn-hog contracts, and wheat contracts. Without them, the plight of the farmer would have been much more desperate. And despite the politicians engaged in firing the shrapnel, the farmer is not deceived. He is signing the 1935 contract and when the final results are shown, it is more than likely they will reveal a more whole hearted response than last year.

Prejudging a Defendant.

TO NORMAL people the morbidity of great numbers of others is astonishing almost beyond belief. The extent to which such morbidity exists is illustrated by the statement of one of the attorneys for Bruno Hauptmann, now being tried for the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby. It was stated by the attorney that Hauptman receives from 50 to 75 letters daily, and that since his incarceration he has received more than a thousand missives. Most of these, it was stated are of a sympathetic or encouraging nature, and very few of them are condemnatory.

Of course it would be improper to condemn the man on trial before all of the evidence has been submitted, but it is just as improper to acquit him until such formality has been gone through with. These people who have been writing to Hauptman are of that class who are always for the accused one.

They illustrate in a forceful manner the difficulties which a prosecutor must encounter, especially in trying to fasten guilt upon a person being tried for a crime which has attracted wide attention. Not only is it difficult to obtain twelve jurors who are not naturally sympathetic with a defendant, but there is that morbidity and hunger for notoriety, which impels some persons to desire to have a part in the case; to testify for the defendant.

Some of these people conjure up stories which they tell to defense attorneys for the purpose of being called as witnesses, while some of them, in the course of time actually imagine that they have seen or heard the things they detail from the witness stand. These things of course have a tendency to confuse conscientious jurors and make the task of the prosecutor doubly difficult.

It is to be hoped that the jury at Flemington is made up entirely of clear thinking men and women, who will be able to weigh intelligently the evidence presented by both sides, and that the verdict will be based entirely thereon, under the directions of the court.

Miss Mary Rogers.

THE appearance of Miss Mary Rogers on the New York stage naturally would inspire more than customary interest. The daughter of a distinguished, famous father, who over these last ten years literally has stolen the hearts of the American people with his droll humor, and his inspiring humanness, was at a great disadvantage in her initial appearance.

It is a very debatable question whether children of popular American idols do not start under a handicap. They may reap something in the way of opportunity which otherwise might not present itself by reason of the relationship, but once the opportunity comes, then from that time on the luster of the parent adds a heavier load to the shoulders of aspiring youth. People expect more of them.

So it was that many of the critics who attended the opening performance in which Miss Rogers appeared were impressed with the seriousness of the very pretty young woman. If it had been any one except Miss Rogers, the eager somberness which characterized her work would have occasioned no surprise. She was cast in a role which called for the mood. Now Will Rogers alternately is serious and humorous. No one combines the mixture more delightfully and with such a revealing stroke of natural genius.

But Will Rogers will understand the kindly, if somewhat skeptical, comment, which followed his daughter's debut. He is an old trouper himself, and he knows what it is to face disinterested or even critical audiences. And deliberately he advised his daughter to follow the path he himself covered; the appearances in smaller communities; touring the hinterlands. The ladder to supreme success is difficult even for a talented daughter of an extremely gifted man.

The Ak-Sar-Ben Proposal.

THE position taken by George O'Malley, speaker of the house in the 1933 legislative session, in appearing before the committee of the senate on miscellaneous subjects handling the bills dealing with pari-mutuel betting, was commendable for its common sense viewpoint.

Mr. O'Malley correctly suggested the issue itself was settled through a referendum initiated by the Ak-Sar-Ben management at the last general election. Then he proceeded to discuss the relationship of the Ak-Sar-Ben to the remainder of the state. Primarily it should be recognized the chief party in interest is the sponsor for the measure which the voters approved. It is true the county fair groups were given to understand the distressing condition of their finances would be improved by sharing in the earnings, and a very definite understanding was reached on that point.

But the mandate itself was clear and evident. There should be no long or no bitter fight engendered in drafting and passing legislation to carry out this order the voters gave. It is an extraordinary situation confronting the legislature, and which calls for appreciation of the difficulties and the magnitude of the task by the electorate. The job involved on three referendum proposals is a more imposing one than is embraced in the average legislative assembly. It will become insurmountable if sharp fighting is to be provoked on each of the three issues.

Markets for Pork.

TWO of the latest reciprocal trade agreements entered into by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull seek specifically to enlarge the market for farm products.

Both Germany and Czechoslovakia expressed a willingness to buy more of American pork products in the event that Uncle Sam would reduce the tariff on beer made in those countries. They each excluded our bacon, hams, and sausage under the provisions of a retaliatory tariff. As a result, President Roosevelt, by proclamation, slashed the duty imposed against their ale, porter, stout, and beer from one dollar a gallon to 50 cents. It's a fair trade.

DIET and HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "The Human Body"

HOW FRESH AIR AIDS IN PNEUMONIA CURE.

During the Middle Ages the world was repeatedly ravaged by plagues and epidemics. The Black Death was the name generally given to them. They had their origin in the mysterious east and spread west and north. They had an immense effect on history. They prevented population growth more than all the wars. The fact that you and I speak English rather than a corrupt Norman French is due to the Black Death.

Dr Clendenine

The disease which was called by the general name Black Death was probably not a single disease, but a number of them. Certainly bubonic plague was one, and cholera another. They are all gone. Epidemiologists like to say that we are living in a pandemic of plague, but one sees very little evidence of it. Sanitation, the destruction of rats, good water supply, good food supply, have killed off our plagues.

All but one. Influenza still may come among us. In the last great pandemic, the sickest patients turned cyanotic and black, so that the disease might well have once been called the Black Death.

Like all the great plagues, it comes out of the east, at least so tradition usually has it, or at any rate it starts in some definite place and races mysteriously over all the earth. Our last pandemic, if you remember, was called Spanish influenza.

There have been notices in the papers of late to the effect that influenza has been recognized during the present winter in various American cities. But I doubt whether it is the real thing. Every time after one of the severe pandemics has come and gone, there occurs an epidemic of severe respiratory infection, and doctors begin to call it the grippe or influenza. It was so when I first began to practice. Cases were called influenza in memory of the epidemic of 1890. But they were so much like ordinary "deep" colds that I came to believe that there was no such thing as influenza. I had the opportunity of changing my mind very decidedly in 1918.

Influenza epidemics come about every 40 years. The ones best known were in 1731, 1780, 1830, 1848, 1890 and 1918. There was one ascribed to 1836 which would make three from 1830 to 1848. The 1848 one was authentic. But from internal evidence of the descriptions I am inclined to doubt the correctness of the diagness of the 1836 one. The period 1830 to 1848 is the shortest of any of the interval periods for influenza.

If it is true that the nature of the disease is to sleep and perhaps incubate for from 30 to 50 years, we are safe until about 1948 to 1968. And as far as I am concerned that is exactly like worrying about the heat of the sun giving out.

The lioness of season. Caricature of grippe of a former winter.

Pandemics which remove a large part of the population would be a good thing if they weren't so unselective. If they would remove the insane, and feebleminded, and criminals, they could be welcomed. But they take the good with the bad.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

(Forum communications to The Lincoln Star should be limited to 500 words. The letters to this department represent the individual views of the writers and may or may not express the views of this newspaper.)

Now This Settles It.

Fairbury, Neb., Feb. 2.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: Prof. Condra, state geologist, has been kind enough to send me several pamphlets on rainfall, soil erosion and the effect of civilization upon both, through the industry of men on former prairie land. After carefully reading these, it appears to me that a good deal of labor, both physical and mental has been spent by college professors without visible results.

I happen to have in my possession the rainfall records at Fairbury for the past sixty years. Using these records I cannot see that rainfall has either increased or decreased during that period. The conclusions arrived at by those whose thinking runs to details rather than logic, that cultivating the soil, draining the marshes, ditching the highways and voting the democratic ticket, has decreased rainfall, is not borne out by these tables of monthly rainfall in this part of Nebraska.

I can take these figures and prove that the past twenty years have been drier than the previous twenty years. Then I can omit 1935 and prove that there has been no change. Then I can take the twenty years beginning in 1887, and ending in 1906, and show that the first twenty years was drier than the last, showing of course, that rainfall increased as the old prairie sod was broken, and the soil cultivated. Anything can be proven by figures if you manipulate them enough. Laboriously two professors in the state university, according to one of the pamphlets cut down through prairie sod that they obtained near Lincoln, for four feet below the surface and carefully saving all the roots, naming each and sifting and washing out the dirt, these professors found how much the bulk of these roots were, compared them with the roots of wheat, oats and corn. Then they seemed to reach the conclusion that prairie sod held rainfall better than a plowed field. Well, they are all wet. I have lived here for more than fifty-four years and have seen rain fall on prairie sod and on plowed fields and the run-off of water from a prairie is far greater than from a similar plowed field. The erosion, of course, is less. Prairie sod, like alfalfa sod, tends to erode in the narrow, deep ditches, while the plowed fields erode in shallow, wide ditches.

Naturally, plowing the soil or stirring it up in any way will cause the top surface to loosen and rainfall will wash it away while root growth of prairie sod prevents this. Floods were far more frequent and disastrous before the prairies were broken than afterwards. Draws which used to run bank full after a 2-inch rain show no such tendencies today, plainly showing without any intricate process of digging up grass roots, drying them and weighing them to a gnat's heel. Common sense and ordinary observation are sufficient to show this. All that the professors accomplished was to put in their time—give an appearance of being very wise and very busy but the net results of their work is exactly zero. They have proven nothing and their reasoning is not sound.

That the climate has changed through the work of men on the prairies is not proven—my figures for more than sixty years show that. That building ponds, planting trees or prayer will change the climate is also not proven. All experience shows otherwise—no effects whatever are produced on the climate although there may be an increase of peace of mind.

That rainfall, especially sudden and heavy rains, cause more erosion on plowed land than on the prairies is self-evident to anyone not entirely foolish in the head—it requires no intricate experiment or demonstration. That this soil erosion can be checked, even entirely stopped on most farms, is also self-evident. The difficult part is to the labor of doing it—it is easier to just let the soil slide off to the ocean. Or talk about it. Or write and print pamphlets or letters like this.

So far as I can see the work of these professors, the publishing of these pamphlets and the expense of it all, is gone without corresponding values being received in return—pure waste. So long as farms are cultivated by tenants there will be erosion, for why should a tenant build up a farm on which he does not expect to stay? So long as the public sale bill flourishes annually a large percentage of actual dirt farmers announce to the world, "Having decided to quit farming," there will be land erosion. The government, as a relief measure, is doing some good work on farms preventing erosion but at an enormous cost to the taxpayers. It is very doubtful if the land saved is worth the cost in many places. I have in mind the enormous costs in Jewell county, Kansas where it would appear that the government cost of erosion work there was greater this year than the value of all the crops raised this year in Jewell county.

That eroding land should be allowed to go back to prairie grass is not proven. With the advent of the gasoline motor and less use of horses, there is no market for the prairie hay except during dry years when little is raised. That much prairie land will produce more when plowed up and planted to crops, has been abundantly proven in the past twenty-five years since the gasoline motor reduced the demand for prairie grass and prairie hay.

While efforts to prevent erosion by the government to increase crop production seem commendable, they do not square in the human mind with government efforts to reduce crops at the same time. Especially when both are so expensive. Taken altogether these pamphlets in the light of my sixty years weather records and more than fifty years observation and experience, merely show only one sure thing—more waste of the taxpayers' money.

For all they prove is that which is already known and much that they seek to prove is not warranted by actual facts and observation. Counting the damage they do by their wrong conclusions and balancing it against the minutae of facts they promulgate—facts already known, there is a heavy balance in the red. I believe these men could be engaged in more practical endeavor.

W. F. CRAMB

The Child Labor Amendment.

O'Neill, Neb., Feb. 4

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This amendment has been before the legislatures of this state since 1925 and decisively rejected every session and is as follows:

Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 yers of age.

Section 2. The power of the several states is unimpaired by this article, except that the operation of state laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by Congress.

Has congress done anything during the time this amendment has been pending that would lead the people of this state to believe that they could or would do more for their children's welfare than their own parents would?

There is no child labor question in Nebraska that is not covered by present laws. The formative period of a chil's life is up to the time he is eighteen years old, and if he is not permitted to learn habits of industry and thrift before that time what will he do? Ask the juvenile courts in any county the reason for the delinquencies of the boys brought before them and in most cases the answer will be, "too much idle time and energy not properly employed."

We all remmeber the cases of Loeb and Leopold of Chicago. If these two bright, educated boys had been required to do eight hours of useful work each day instead of having so much leisure time I firmly believe that little Bobby Franks would still be living and that they, Loeb and Leopold would both be leading and useful citizens of their communities instead of spending their lives behind prison walls. If this amendment is passed and enforced I believe it will lead to more crime and delinquency than any thing else that could possibly be done. We have had an epidemic of adopting amendments, national and state, and we had better slow up a little to see just how much we have gained. Kill this amendment and protect our families. Congress has plenty to do as it is.

JOHN A. ROBERTSON.

Fooling The People

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 4.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We see great headlines of figures running into millions pouring into the farmer's pockets. I will state a few brief examples that people who are not educated in algebra can figure out. For example, one farmer received $181 for his hogs, and $91 of that went for the processing tax, leaving only $90 for himself.

A second farmer sold a carload for which the processing tax was $480, and his share was $460—after he had fed all of his corn to the hogs and is now paying $1 a bushel for corn.

In regard to the federal loans the farmers got to save their land, that was the only thing they could do, as the bank would not loan money, or neither could they renew loans, so it was either take it or loose their land. First, if he needed a loan of $2,300 he had to borrow $2,500 or buy stock of $200 and pay interest on $200 he didn't get. If he wished $5,000 he borrowed $5,400, and so on, according to the amount of the loan.

Also, these over-experienced farmers or job seekers that have never seen a farm are still howling for farm reduction, when there is not a farmer in the United States that is feeding his stock properly. Either the feed is too high or it can not be gotten at all. One more for these men to figure out.

One man stated that a farmer sold his lambs at a great profit. They sold at ten and a half cents a pound, and weighed 74 and a half pounds each, and his profit was $1.10 per head.

As one man sttaed, half of the people are crazy, and our schools and government will have to back up and start at the bottom and teach them better judgment.

The more the political office seeker interferes with the farmer the worse mess they get the farmer into. If President Roosevelt was the right kind of a man he would have said "quit making liquor, if you don't I will put a mounted police from here to California and I will see if it can't be stopped." Even at that there would be enough made. Poor, weak, democrats, they couldn't stop it, they had to give them booze.

A Conferred Right?

A Conferred Right?

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 5.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: When the bill to put a property qualification on voters in Nebraska was being considered in the house of representatives in the legislature of Nebraska, one of its members made the astounding remark that none of us had the right to vote, but that it was a conferred right.

I do not know this member's politics, but I do sincerely hope that he does not call himself a Jeffersonian democrat. He may, if he likes, call his right to vote a conferred right, but mine is an inalienable right. I cite no less an authority that the immortal Thomas Jefferson to prove my assertion.

Governments may deny this inalienable right, but they do not confer it. The women of the United States have always had this inalienable right. The men voters had no power to confer this right upon them. They could only remove the bar that kept them from exercising it.

If you do not believe this please read the nineteenth amendment to the United States constitution.

Distributing Income

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 5.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There is one thing that the people of this country must be made to understand. This is that an economic system based upon the profit system cannot work except in cycles of depression and so-called prosperity unless there is a huge foreign market to relieve us of the surplus over the home market.

Now foreign nations have these so-called surpluses of their own, leaving us with a chance to sell very little of our products abroad. If we must depend upon disposing of our products on the home market, the profit system defeats us. Of course we want to profit by our labors, but do we want to profit out of other people's labor?

That is what I mean by a profit system—a system of exploiting our fellow men. The working population must receive enough money in wages to enable them to buy back all the working population has produced. Otherwise there will result a surplus over the market, although not over the needs and desires of the people, which in turn spells unemployment, giving the people even less purchasing power to buy what is produced.

This process is repeated until we come to the general unemployment and depression of today when millions of us go hungry and ragged while factories capable of producing what we need lay idle.

The capitalist class can never be expected to operate factories, voluntarily without profit. This class of people will not sell their executive ability for a fair salary; they must make millions of profit through the exploitation of labor. It is up to the government to see that its citizens are not exploited, that they are getting the full value of their toil.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

STRANGEST OF ALL.

The world is filled with curious things,
As Ripley says: "Believe it or not."
A snail that runs a frog that sings,
And ice that keeps the kettle hot,
A chicken with a rabbit's ears,
Upset the universal plan,
But stranger than all these appear
An arrogant, conceited man.

At freaks of nature jarred and glassed
On dusty laboratory shelves
I've stared, the while the thought has passed:
Poor things, they could not help themselves;
Some slight mischance brought them about
When generation first began,
But harder this to figure out:
An arrogant, conceited man

So much there is to learn and know
To test the world and man so small,
How can a mortal boastful grow
And act as if he knows it all?
Whatever be his place of rest
Whatever curious freaks I scan,
This creature puzzles me the most,
An arrogant, conceited man

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The Singer Is Located

A mystery you'll always find
Existing chiefly in the mind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Farmer Brown's Boy had heard him in the darkness of the night.

In Farmer Brown's house was a Canary, and that Canary was a good singer, but he did his singing wholly in the daytime. That is to say, he never sang in the dark. Lately there had been a singer in the dark, a singer in the very middle of the night, and who that singer was was a mystery. Mother Brown had heard him. Farmer Brown had heard him. Farmer Brown's Boy had heard him in the darkness of night, and all three had heard him in the evening after the lights were lighted, and each had thought the singer to be in a different place. It was all very mysterious, very mysterious, indeed.

Then followed several days in which the strange singing was not heard at all, and the queer happening was gradually passing from their minds, when late one afternoon Mother Brown abruptly stopped to listen.

"What is it?" asked Farmer Brown's Boy as he stepped into the room and noticed the attitude of his mother. She merely put her fingers on her lips and made signs to him to keep quiet. Motionless and silent, they waited until the patience of Farmer Brown's Boy was about exhausted. He still did not know what it was all about. He was just opening his lips to ask when the mysterious song, somewhat faint, as if the singer were at a distance or in another room, was heard. This time both he and his mother were sure that it came from a closet.

As soon as the song ceased, Mother Brown gently opened the closet door. No singer or sign of a possible singer was to be seen. She stood just back of the door and waited. Farmer Brown's Boy waited just as quietly. Presently the song began, louder now. There was no doubt that it came from inside that closet. Quietly she peeked around the edge of the door. The song continued. It was a happy little song. Vainly she looked for the singer. Not a living thing was to be seen in that closet. Meanwhile the singing had ceased. She waited. It began again. This time she was sure she knew exactly where the song came from. She beckoned and Farmer Brown's Boy tip-toed over to join her. She pointed to a corner of the closet. There was nothing there but an old carpet-sweeper.

"It is in that," whispered Mother Brown.

It certainly did sound so, yet what sort of a creature could or would be singing in an old carpet-sweeper? It sounded like the song of a bird, but no bird could get into that thing. For that matter, no bird could get into the closet, or into the house, either. And, anyway, there were no birds about save the winter visitors, none of whom could sing like that.

Farmer Brown's Boy reached out and took hold of the sweeper. The singing ceased. He lifted it and started to open it. Something jumped out of it and scampered across the closet floor. It disappeared in a hole in the corner. Farmer Brown's Boy stared at his mother, and she stared at him.

"Did you see that?" he asked.

"It was a Mouse," said she.

He opened the sweeper wide and looked inside. He poked between the brushes.

"There is nothing else in here," he declared.

"Then it must have been that Mouse who was singing," said Mother Brown.

"Who ever heard of a singing Mouse?" he demanded.

Mother Brown looked thoughtful. "It seems to me I have heard of something of the kind," said she. "I never took any stock in it, and until now I hadn't thought of it. Do you suppose it really could have been that Mouse?"

Modern Bridge Laws Stir City's Devotees Mightily

Seven Week Series of Duplicate Tournaments Begins Wednesday Night With Gala Opening; Measles Steps Into Role In University Players Production.

IT SEEMS that the new, and we trust streamlined 1935 bridge rules are out (not in book form, however) and are creating a mighty interest among the devotees of that particular art—For tonight, the first of a seven weeks series of duplicate bridge tournaments will be held at the University club and up to noon today more than fifty pairings had been made for tonight's play. An additional idea has been added to the former plans for the tournament—that is, there is to be a prize for each section each week during the series, which, of course, is under the direction of Mrs. Merle Rathburn—

AND MAKING the opening of the series quite a gala affair are a number of dinners at the club preceding the tournament—Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bumstead have reserved a no host table for twenty-five. Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Fulton have reserved a foursome table, and Mr. and Mrs. George Swingle will be at the club for dinner, as will Mrs. W. M. Morning and Mrs. C. B. Letton.

PAIRINGS THUS FAR include Mrs. F. B. Baylor and Mrs. A. M. Bunting; Mrs. Helen Avery and Mrs. Frank Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pegler; Mr. and Mrs. John Oeschger; Mrs. W. M. Morning and Mrs. C. B. Letton; Dr. and Mrs. Clayton Andrews; Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodward; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Seacrest; Mrs. A. A. Tanner and Mrs. W. S. Cochrane; Roy Wythers and Carl Stein; Mrs. Bruce Shurtleff and Miss Carrie Shurtleff; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Russell; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roberts; Mrs. F. R. Mullen and Mrs. George Walker; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kenning; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kauffman, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hoffmark; Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bumstead; Dr. and Mrs. Everett Angle; Mrs. John Sheldahl and Mrs. H. J. Requartte; Miss Mary Easley and Irvin F. Rucklos; Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Zemer; Mr. and Mrs. George Swingle.

AND IT WOULD SEEM that some of the Crucible club wives are still vindictive—We remember the year that the members of good old Crucible decided that they would not entertain the wives at dinner, but have a lovely banquet all of their own, sans women—We remember also that the wives decided that the nearest way to a husband's heart was through his pocketbook and went right on planning a large dinner of their own which was held in an adjoining room at one of the hotels, and which was paid for, strange as it may seem, by the members of the Crucible club.

Now, so we are told, some of the wives, not all of them, are up to their old tricks and will be on hand for dinner at the University club this evening, where the Crucible club is also meeting, and will sign friend husband's name to the check.

SOMEONE WAS TALKING about Clyde Elliott the other day, who, as you probably well know, is a former University of Nebraska man, member of Alpha Theta Chi and all that—director of "Bring 'em Back Alive," and "Devil Tiger." Anyway, this person was relating about some of Mr. Elliott's experiences as a globe trotter and motion picture director—Just this morning we found out that Mr. Elliott is about to be off on another production. This time the locale will be in the heart of China, and the cast will include over two hundred natives. Just now Mr. Elliott is in New York City to find a leading man for the difficult role of the American physician in "China Roars." Mr. Elliott and his company will sail from San Francisco this month.

AND SPEAKING OF the drama our mind turns to the University Players and the production "The Return of Peter Grimm" which is being presented this week. There were a number of obstacles to overcome before the production began to take shape. In the first place, young Norman Walt, jr., who plays by no means an unimportant role, came down with the Measles—He learned his lines letter perfect, nevertheless, but the cast was slightly handicapped as to rehearsals. But Norman was up and around and ready for his first performance Monday evening and all went well. Tuesday afternoon, late, another member of the cast became ill and Tuesday night, Irving Hill stepped in to play the role of the doctor. He had to read much of the script but did it so gracefully that it was not in the least annoying.

Col. W. de Basil's Troup Will Give Nebraskans First Glimpse Of Unique Russian Ballet Art

Bringing that unique art, the Russian ballet, to Nebraska for the first time, Col. W. de Basil's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will play to a large crowd at the University of Nebraska the evening of Thursday, Feb. 14. The capital city appearance is presented by the Lincoln Newspapers and advance sales forecast a large crowd.

Until the Monte Carlo company made its debut in New York, an occasion for which New Yorkers willingly paid $25 a seat, no complete ballet organization in the tradition of the Imperial Ballet of St. Petersburg had been seen here since Serge Diaghilev brought his Ballet Russe across the Atlantic in 1916 and 1917. The Diaghilev company appeared in the eastern cities and did not reach out into the middlewest.

During the interval, the late Mme. Pavlowa toured the country, under the aegis of S. Hurok, the impresario who now brings the Monte Carlo company to Lincoln. That great star, whose last tour was in 1925; traveled as a solo artist with assisting dancers.

Prima Ballerinas.

With 50 dancers, of whom no fewer than four are ranked as prima ballerinas, while even members of the corps de ballet are capable of solo performances, Col. de Basil's company is organized according to the great tradition of the ballet. Dancers of various types and styles, from the intense and dusky Tamara Toumanova to fragile blonde Irina Baronova, from dashing Leonide Massine to muscular Lichine, are there to play roles important or unimportant according to the needs of the particular production.

Col. de Basil believes in the no-star system, which in effect means that any particular ballet is likely to have an all-star cast. M Massine, himself maitre de ballet of the company, and choreographer of the first rank, regularly dances as one of the tribesmen in "Prince Igor," unrecognizable behind his makeup as a barbaric warrior, although his dancing in "Union Pacific" and "The Beautiful Danube," both his own creations, has been recorded as unequalled by critics in Paris, London and New York.

Traveling with their own symphony orchestra, conductor and a large staff of stage and lighting experts, the company is now on the return from the Pacific coast where they appeared at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

Colbert, Moore and Shearer Best 1934 Film Actresses

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6—(INS)—The three best actresses in motion pictures in 1934 were Claudette Colbert, Grace Moore and Norma Shearer, it was announced by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

At the same time the academy announced the honors for the best actors went to Clark Gable, Frank Morgan and William Powell From the two trios, by secret ballot, the academy members will select the most outstanding star of the last year, and announcement of the award will be made at the annual dinner of the group on February 27.

Miss Colbert and Gable were picked in the select group for their work in the same picture, "It Happened One Night," while Morgan won his place for his performance in "Affairs of Cellini," and Powell was selected for his portrayal of "The Thin Man." Miss Moore won her fame in "One Night of Love" and Miss Shearer was selected for her acting in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

The three directors selected for having produced the best pictures of 1934 were Frank Capra, for "It Happend One Night;" W. S. Van Dyke, for "The Thin Man;" and Victor Schertzinger for "One Night of Love."

The 12 productions from which the most outstanding pictures of the year will be selected were "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," "Cleopatra," "Flirtation Walk," "The Gay Divorcee," "Here Comes the Navy," "The House of Rothschild," "Imitation of Life," "It Happened One Night," "One Night of Love," "The Thin Man," "Viva Villa" and "The White Parade."

Melodic Organ Concert Given By Chenoweth

The theory that a prophet is without honor in his own country was exploded to bits Tuesday evening when Wilbur Chenoweth was presented in organ recital at the First-Plymouth Congregational church. Chenoweth, who was in his best playing form, gave a program that appealed equally to layman and critic, displaying favorably the true, full richness of the organ in his treatment of the classics and in the simpler melodic airs.

Chenoweth opened his concert with Handel's "Water Suite," a delightful thing which prepared the large audience for a most enjoyable evening.

There was a little bit of everything on the program — Bach, Franck, Rogers, Bonnet, Yon, Ungerer and Wagner.

The Bach number, "Toccata and Fugue in D minor," is probably the most beautiful and spectacular of that composer's works, and was fully appreciated in its interpretation by Mr. Chenoweth.

But the high spot on the program, if one could use such a term in discussing a splendid musical program, was Mr. Chenoweth's improvisation on the hymn tune, "Sun of My Soul," which was nothing short of a masterpiece in musicianship. Mr. Chenoweth began the hymn on the small organ, or, to be more explicit, we should say he used the small stops in the beginning, and through a variety of modulations and embellishments worked up to a majestic climax and closing.

Chenoweth's own composition, the gay and rhythmical "Musette and Bouree" was especially well liked, as was "La Concertina" by Yon, its bizarre effects done in colorful and ingenious style. Another favorite with the audience was Rogers' "Capriccio," and still another was Franck's "Piece Heroique," to say nothing of the Ungerer number. "Freres Jacques. Dormex-vous?" The program officially closed with Bonnet's "Caprice Heroique," which displayed the grace and facility of Mr. Chenoweth's technique. But the program really closed after insistent calls for an encore, to which Mr. Chenoweth responded with an improvisation on "All Through the Night."

The complete program:

Suite from "Water Music"	Handel
Freres Jacques, Dormez-vous?	Ungerer
Toccata and Fugue in D minor	Bach
Improvisation on Hymn Tune, "Sun of My Soul"

Walter's Prize Song	Wagner

Registration At University Shows Slight Increase

University of Nebraska officials Wednesday estimated registration for the current semester would be about 500 more than for the second semester last year when a total of 4,975 students were registered.

Wednesday figures show that 611 more students are already enrolled than on the third day of the second semester in 1934. At the close of Tuesday there were 4,517 students registreed as compared with 3,906 a year ago.

In addition to those students who have already completed their registration, there will probably be some 400 graduate students who have until February 16 to complete their registration, some 330 medical college students and 90 to 100 students in the school of nursing to be reported, as well as considerable number of stragglers, which it is hoped will bring the total to more than 5,400.

The current figures show but little decrease from the first semester. Some drop is normally expected due to midyear graduation, student scholarship, and student finances.

Pimples Completely Gone After Using Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"My face broke out with pimples that came from surface irritation and were quite large. It itched and burned and at night would itch so badly I would scratch, and the pimples finally turned into eruptions. My face was disfigured for the time being; I looked as if I had the measles.

"Then I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I got great results so I bought more, and I used only two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and the pimples were completely gone." (Signed) Miss Mayme Michelsen, Weeping Water, Neb.

How Do You CHOOSE?

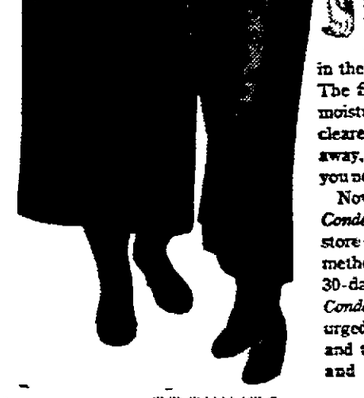

Every time you make a purchase you make a choice. Buying a certain product may be so much a matter of habit that you don't realize you are choosing. But the fact remains that in accepting one brand of goods you are always rejecting others; and the satisfaction you get from what you buy depends on the knowledge of quality and values that guides your selection.

How do you know which bed-sheets, or which roofing material, or which radio will give you service you require? You can't personally test everything you buy and compare it with all the other products in its class. But there is a way to find out which brand fits your needs.

The people who are most successful in their buying—who achieve the highest percentage of satisfaction from the things they own and use—are those who consistently read the advertising columns, and buy consistently advertised goods.

Choosing isn't just "guessing" when you follow the guidance of the advertisements.

You can depend on advertised goods. It pays to read the advertisements.

guards being held there in reserve. The invaders threw garbage at the guards, but were repulsed with a police charge and five were arrested.

PARIS, Feb. 6— Violence followed today on a religious observance of the first anniversary of "bloody Tuesday" as shouting youths clashed with police within sight of Notre Dame cathedral.

Thousands of young men, most of them in uniform, chanted the Marseillaise and shouted "France for the French!" They withstood a police charge in the Place St. Michel, but police clubbed them so thoroughly that they kept moving.

The clash, in which many of the young men struck down their opponents with loaded canes, occurred just after an unpleasant incident at Notre Dame cathedral where Premier Pierre Etienne Flandin and Prefect of Police Langeron were hissed and jeered as they entered and left the religious service in memory of the 19 persons who died a year ago today in riots throughout the city.

Inside the great church, Flandin bowed his head and listened to the memorial mass celebrated by Cardinal Verdier. In the choir stood a flag draped casket symbolizing all the riot dead and to them the cardinal granted absolution.

At the close of the solemn rites a group of 30 or 40 persons shouted, "There goes the assassin!" as the prefect of police walked down the aisle with Premier Flandin and approached the church's massive doors. They continued to shout epithets some of which were coupled with Flandin's name, but their calls were drowned by the noise of the excited crowd leaving the church.

Outside, a solid barrier of police kept the multitudes away from the steps and protected the egress of the premier and the others from the house of worship.

The fear of an attack on Flandin caused a flurry among the police when a man broke through their lines and ran toward the premier. He was arrested but told the authorities he wished only to tell the chief of government of the country's troubles. He was unarmed.

As the premier's car left, the royalist "king's henchmen" shouted: "France for the French! On to the Place de la Concorde! Down with the assassins!"

Youths Driven Off.

The great crowds massed around the cathedral threatened several times to sweep the police lines apart and many times the police were on the point of charging into them. Everyone held his ground there, however, and the clash came finally only when the shouting youths blocked the Place St. Michel and refused to move until they were driven off.

In the meantime, marching columns of royalist and other students threatened trouble around the Sorbonne. The royalists tore down socialist posters. Leftist groups quickly retaliated by tearing down manifestos printed by the rightists. They also tore down government posters which ordered university classes suspended.

Red paint, splashed in the place de la Concorde, provided a vivid reminder today of the fatal rioting a year.

The government, grimly determined to preserve order, had 14,000 police, 20,000 mobile guards and 50,000 troops at its command to be called out in any emergency. Premier Flandin cancelled all engagements to devote himself exclusively to keeping in touch with the situation.

was the emergency would be past by that time.

Cites Iowa System.

Chairman Throop cited the Iowa sales tax, an income tax and a one cent gasoline tax as possible means of levying the needed amount. "Which do you advocate," Cone interrupted? Throop replied he was advocating none of these, but was merely making suggestions. Rep. Steuteville of Bridgeport suggested a mill levy plan, similar to that used to construct the capitol.

Stressing the necessity of acting to raise the money by March 1, Mr. Throop said "we can not allow relief to loose without a great amount of suffering." He pointed out that the relief load has grown from 10,000 to 52,000 famil--

Hopkins Fair Minded.

"Mr. Hopkins is not hard-boiled," Mr. Throop continued. "The government has just made up its mind that it is time to get out of the direct relief business. The government has been good to Nebraska, sending some $73,000,000 into the state.

We in Nebraska are proud of our record. Any one can see the records and tell where each dollar has been spent." Mr Throop and NERA Administrator Howland Haynes both said only 12 cents of each relief dollar has gone for administration.

While Haynes was speaking Cone interposed a question about the type of work given relief workers. Haynes explained that Nebraska's situation was difficult in that population was so scattered that often men had to be hauled 15 to 18 miles to get to the job being done.

The house adopted Rep. George Nickles' report on the trip to Washington and the Hopkins conference.

Mullen Declares He Has No Liquor Bill

lators the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution and oppose its ratification, on the ground that it involves an encroachment by the national government into the sphere of matters which should be regulated individually by the various states.

Joint resolutions for such ratification have been introduced and are now pending in both branches of the assembly. Eight or ten years ago a similar proposal was voted down by Nebraska solons.

Mullen indicated that he would have no advice to give the legislature regarding any particular kind of liquor bill it should enact.

Easily Pleased.

"I have no interest in that question at all," he declared. "I have had nothing to do with the preparation of any of the liquor control bills already introduced, nor do I expect to take any part in drafting any other measure on the subject. Neither have I conferred with Governor Cochran regarding it. Any kind of a bill which the legislature may pass and the governor sign will suit me. I assume that all concerned wish to enact the kind of a law that will be best suited to Nebraska conditions."

At this juncture, Mullen recalled that in 1909 he drew up the famous "daylight saloon bill" passed by the legislature in that year, forcing liquor establishments to close their doors at 8 p. m. and remain closed until 8 a. m. the following day. This was 8 years before state prohibition went into effect.

The former national committeeman, reverting to the subject of state rights, said he believed too much power has already been centralized at Washington and expressed his opinion that the states must jealously guard against any further surrender of their governmental prerogatives to the federal government.

"State rights are a fundamental part of our whole scheme of government, and it is our duty as good American citizens to maintain them," he asserted.

Asked About Relief.

"Does that mean you are opposed to the federal government's laying down conditions to the states in granting relief funds, or to enactment of a state NRA law, or other such measures?" was asked of Mullen.

"It means that I am a believer in the preservation of the authority of the states and of local governments to control their own affairs without federal interference," he answered.

Ex-Governor Neville did not have much to say to the newsmen. He is avowedly interested in liquor legislation, having outlined his views thereon to the democratic senators and representatives in their party caucuses at the outset of the session, but insisted that was not what he came to see Governor Cochran about.

"Just a little social call, and not much else," was the way Mullen and Neville both described their visit at the executive office.

Concerning gubernatorial appointments, Mullen admitted privately to a reporter that he had talked with the governor "about two or three minor places," but declared that in general he was keeping to his public statement that he would not attempt to influence the selection of official personnel at the capitol.

DEFENDERS HAMMER AT FISCH ANGLE

broom, damaging it, so that he discovered it contained money. This money—14,600 in Lindbergh ransom notes — was found in Hauptmann's garage after his arrest.

Miller testified rain ran down a vent pipe from the roof of the house.

In cross-examination of Miller the prosecution made him acknowledge there was much about Hauptmann's attic he did not notice.

"What was in the attic?"

"I didn't notice what was in the attic," he said.

Nor could he remember how far the attic floor extended or whether there was a radio and some rugs stored there.

The defense failed to get into the record testimony from another witness that would have shown, Hauptmann's attorneys said, that Fisch displayed gold notes in May, 1933.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard ruled the defense would first have to prove the gold notes were ransom bills.

Temporarily Balked.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 6— Bruno Richard Hauptmann's defense, fighting to prove the dead Isador Fisch got the Lindbergh $50,000 futile ransom, was temporarily balked today in an attempt to show that Fisch exhibited gold notes in 1933.

At the noon recess, decision on whether Oscar John Bruchmann, a Bronx taxi driver once employed by Fisch, could answer a question pertaining to gold notes had not been reached by the court.

Edward J. Reilly, defense chief attorney, in answer to objection by Attorney General David T. Wilentz, declared Bruchmann's testimony was offered "for the purpose of showing the sudden affluence of Fisch and his wealth and his display of certain gold back bills that he had in May, 1933."

Wilentz objected again to "taking from the mouth of a dead man and bringing into this court words which it is impossible to meet and which he knows is impossible to meet."

Reilly replied:

"I say it is material and it is competent to show—and we have charged here in the defense repeatedly—that this money was in the possession of Fisch and the box that he gave to Hauptmann, Hauptmann has testified he left with him, and it contained money which afterwards people have demonstrated here contained notes that had been registered as part of the Lindbergh money.

"Now it is unfortunate that Mr. Fisch died, but still it is part of our case, we contend, to show that Fisch was going around New York after the ransom money had been paid by Dr. (John F. "Jafsie") Condon, exhibiting gold bills to exchange people and trying to exchange them with different people, and that he left part of them with Mr. Hauptmann."

Ruling Indicated.

Justice Thomas W Trenchard ruled, at a conference before his bench just before declaring the recess, that the defense would have to show that the money Fisch was alleged to have exhibited to Bruchmann was actually ransom money. Otherwise, the court said, Hauptmann's attorneys would have to abandon that line of questioning.

Earlier the defense used a witness to say that Fisch had carried a shoe box in May, 1933. It was in a shoe box that Hauptmann claimed Fisch gave to him, for safekeeping and without telling him of the contents, the $14,600 Lindbergh ransom money which was discovered in his garage.

His attorneys also called several New Jersey police officers and through them emphasized the failure of the authorities to find any fingerprints of Hauptmann on the kidnap ladder or in the nursery from which Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., was stolen.

The defense called Lieut. Paul Sjostrom of the New Jersey police and learned from him that of 68 finger marks found on the ladder—after it had been handled "by hundreds of people"—only eight were identified, and none of these was Hauptmann's.

The prosecution immediately brought out that if Hauptmann had handled the ladder and had worn gloves, his fingerprints would not be found.

The prints found, it was testified, were produced by a silver-nitrate method discovered after the kidnaping date, March 1, 1932. Several police have testified no fingerprints of value were found on the ladder immediately after the crime.

No Prints in Nursery.

Sergt. Louis Kubler, a New Jersey trooper sometimes assigned to fingerprint work, was examined along similar lines, and Trooper Frank A. Kelly was recalled to relate again his failure to find any fingerprints in the Lindbergh nursery or upon the crib from which Baby Lindbergh was stolen. The defense emphasized the absence of nursery fingerprints, and hammered on the point that Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, the baby's mother, and Betty Gow, the nurse, had been in the nursery and handled the crib just prior to the kidnaping.

Sam Streppone, a Bronx radio repairman who acknowledged on cross-examination that he had been in an institution for a depressive phychosis, said Fisch called for a repaired radio in May, 1933, and left a shoe box with him for six hours, packing it up again himself.

Hauptmann claimed that Fisch, now dead, left a shoe box with him on December 2, 1933, and that he (Hauptmann) was unaware that the box contained $14,600 in Lindbergh ransom money.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press).

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 6— An eleventh hour attempt was pushed by Bruno Hauptmann's attorneys today to saddle the full burden of guilt in the Lindbergh kidnap killing on Isador Fisch.

Hauptmann's dead business partner was thrust squarely into the trial scene by the defense on testimony of one of its witnesses that a man resembling Fisch was seen in the Bronx cemetery the night of April 2, 1932, when $50,000 ransom was paid.

Edward J. Reilly, chief defense counsel, apparently was ready to stake everything on his closing tight to link Fisch with the crime and to present Hauptmann as the innocent victim of an unusual combination of circumstances.

Proof Claimed.

"I am prepared to prove," he said, "that the ransom money was handed Isador Fisch, and that Isador Fisch from that day on not only approached one but many persons in New York, trying to dispose of this money."

In support of its contention Hauptmann was not at the kidnaping scene, the defense called today Erasmus Hudson, New York fingerprint expert who entered the case shortly after the Lindbergh baby was stolen. At that time Hudson had perfected a new process to reveal and preserve fingerprints on wood.

"Hudson will show that about 500 fingerprints were found on what the prosecution chooses to call the kidnap ladder," Reilly declared. These prints would have given some indication of the identity of the kidnaper, Reilly said, "had the police sense enough to read them."

Uhlig Saw Notes.

Henry Uhlig, mutual friend of both Fisch and Hauptmann, was called to testify, too, that Fisch possessed gold notes similar to the ransom notes before he went to Germany in December 1933.

Uhlig's testimony was designed also to show that Fisch's relatives, now in the United States, were prepared to come here on Fisch's death to settle "the big estate."

The defense expected to introduce a wood expert to refute state witnesses on the source of wood used in the kidnap ladder, but did not plan to use an autopsy expert to challenge the theory the baby died of a fractured skull. There had been intimations Reilly would attempt to lay the cause of death to pneumonia.

DEBATE 48-HOUR WORKING WEEK

bor on public works construction projects, also came in for extended debate and was finally referred back to committee.

Accepting house amendments, the senate completed legislative action on S. F. 7, empowering mutual insurance associations to levy advance assessments, and sent it to Governor Cochran.

Ak-Sar-Benu's pari-mutuel horse race betting bill, S. F. 14, was approved by the miscellaneous subjects committee for the second time and will be reported out for the general file. A public hearing was held on it Tuesday night.

Adopt Resolutions.

With only three of four senators voting audibly either way, two resolutions providing for Nebraska membership in the "national legislative association," authorizing the selection of one member to represent this state, and making $100 available to pay his expenses and other expenses were declared adopted in the upper branch of the lawmaking diet Wednesday forenoon.

Senator Green first called up his resolution providing for a committee of five senators "on interstate co-operation," to be one of the regular standing committees of the chamber. Lieutenant Governor Jurgensen put it to a vote, whereupon two or three senators answered "aye" and one lone "no" was heard.

Next came the companion declaration sponsored by Senator Stewart to name a member of the chamber who will serve on the council of the national organization and speak for this state, and allowing up to $100 to be drawn from legislative funds for expenses. It evoked possibly 5 affirmative votes, with none against.

Favor Norris Proposal.

The senate showed more interest in the Callan resolution urging the national government to pass the Norris bill for establishment of a national monument on the Daniel Freeman farm, No. 1 homestead of the United States, near Beatrice. It went through with a unanimous chorus of "ayes."

While in the resoluting business the senate also adopted one favoring development of the 30,000-acre "Devil's Nest" area in Knox county by the federal government as a national scenic and recreational park.

The senate school lands and funds committee met during the forenoon with the board of educational lands and funds to discuss the committee's bill S. F. 58, which would strip the land commissioner of his individual powers and duties as the board's agent in loking after school lands and keeping the records. Leo N. Swanson, only republican elective state officer, objected vigorously to the plan.

A petition from the Omaha school district urging enactment of legislation which would give it the power to levy additional taxes for retirement of debts was read in the senate Wednesday.

and has continually differed with Davis and Wallace.

Rexford G. Tugwell, under secretary of agriculture, who formerly sided with the "left wingers," withdrew almost entirely six months ago and has devoted his time to supervising the detailed work of running the department.

Davis to Remain Awhile

Davis has declared himself as anxious to remain as administrator during the emergency era of the farm adjustment program but equally anxious to take up his private business when that period is over.

One contention of the school of which Frank is a representative has been that some of the government programs for controlling crops and regulating marketing have favored large land owners and handlers of farm products. One issue said to be involved was that of southern share croppers. There has been criticism that control activities were working to their disadvantage.

The viewpoint in the Davis camp has been that many of the critics have no practical knowledge of farming and that they have hampered the drive toward prosperity.

On coming to AAA, some of Frank's ideas were said to have conflicted with those of George N. Peek, then administrator. In a subsequent clash between "liberals" and "conservatives" the former won out, and Peek quit to become special adviser to the president on foreign trade.

Defense Claims Mrs. Shepard Was A Whisky Addict

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 6—(AP)—The defense in Maj. Charles A. Shepard's wife murder trial produced more witnesses today to tell of Mrs. Zenana Shepard's addiction to whisky and of her moody nature.

It hopes to prove the second wife of the now retired 63-year-old army medical officer did not die at Fort Riley, Kas., of poison given by the major, as the government charges, but died accidentally, or committed suicide.

Shepard's Filipino houseboy testified Mrs. Shepard often drank "two-three" pints of whisky a day, which he got "from bootleggers around Omaha."

Shepard believed and still believes that bad liquor was the cause of his wife's collapse, he said, in ending his testimony yesterday.

Dr. M. A. St. Peter, former army medical officer, testified that while Mrs. Shepard was under his observation at Fort Omaha, Neb., she told him:

"I've definitely made up my mind that I'm going to commit suicide.'"

"She heard a voice constantly telling her she was going insane like her mother," the witness said. "She was not a chronic alcoholic. She used alcohol to excess to press and push these things back in her mind."

He quoted her as saying she married the major not because she loved him but because she thought he had money, and added she was unhappy with her husband, a man 22 years her senior.

Merle Foster Dropped From State Position As Deputy Bank Chief

Merle N. Foster of Lincoln, who was deputy superintendent of the state banking department under the Bryan administration and chief clerk of the banking bureau previously, was dropped from the state payroll February 1. The place has not yet been filled, Bank Superintendent Saunders said Wednesday.

Foster is now doing temporary work checking bank receiverships.

Foster is a republican and had been employed in the banking department in different capacities starting as an examiner, during the McMullen and Weaver regimes. He was promoted to one of the two deputyships in the office several years ago, when George W. Woods retired from the position of bank commissioner, since abolished by the legislature.

Foster's salary as deputy was $3,500 a year. The other holdover deputy, George B. Wilson, is drawing $3,200 a year.

Utility Companies Ignoring Order To Supply Many Rates

Twelve Nebraska electric utility companies Wednesday were ordered by the railway commission to show cause by March 1 why they have not supplied the commission with schedules of wholesale rates charged municipalities as requested in an order last October.

Only a few of the smaller utilities have complied with the order, and none of the large companies. Those not complying have to date ignored the order without explaining their failure to supply the data asked.

The commission's order to show cause was signed by all three commissioners. The information is sought as a basis for an investigation of rates being paid by municipalities.

As usual, we yelled too soon. It seems that Dr. Saphirstein, the Boston dentist whose letter to the Mayor of Boston objected to the performance of "The Mikado" on the ground of lewdness, obscenity, and an attack on organized government, was Having His Little Joke. Well, he fooled us.

And just as we screamed our murmur of approval that the Sixth Avenue elevated structure might be torn down, along comes Mr. Theodore S. Watson, vice-president of the Manhattan Railway company, and says the city cannot build and operate a competing line without first condemning the elevated property. Condemning is used technically; it is not enough that every shopkeeper in earshot of the trains condemns the property many times a day. Vice-President Watson said that the Sixth Avenue Elevated was "very profitable," which was news to us. In the first place, we thought that it was unprofitable; in the second, it is news to have an official of any public utility company tell the public that anything that he is connected with does better than break even.

It is the conviction of Paul Sifton and Virgil Geddes, who are picketing for their belief, that the Theater Guild is unfair to American playwrights. Fairness, especially in the show business, is a matter of opinion; the picketers say that the unfairness lies not in the Guild's failure to produce the work of American playwrights, but in their not exercising options on plays that they have accepted. That, if true, seems to us to be unfair; but most theatrical concerns issue contracts to the effect that when the option has expired —the concern having given the playwright an advance against royalties for the option—the play reverts to the playwright, who may then try to sell it elsewhere.

But the picketing idea is good, and we hope that it will have an effect. Perhaps it was picketing Hollywood by heirs and assigns of the Estate of Chas. Dickens, dec'd., that finally caused the filming of "David Copperfield." And we should like to get a bunch of poets to picket Simon & Schuster, on the ground that they are unfair to the writers of verse. And may be the Petrachan Sonnetteers might picket, say, Harper & Brothers, with placards saying that his firm is unfairly prejudiced in favor of the Shakespearean arrangement, and that the Petrachans' children are Crying for Bread.

Final Action Thursday.

Final action was deferred until tomorrow.

Senators McCarran of Nevada and Copeland of New York later were reported to have voted for the substitute, making four democrats on the committee against the administration measure as it stands.

Senator Nye (R-ND) was reported to have been the only republican not voting. This would make the lineup as follows:

For the substitute—Democrats: Glass Copeland, Adams, McCarran; Republicans: Hale, Keyes, Steiwer, Dickinson, Townsend, Carey.

Against the substitute—Democrats: Hayden, Thomas (Okla.) Byrnes, Russell, Coolidge, Bankhead, O'Mahoney, McAdoo, Truman; Republican: Norbeck.

Senator Adams first proposed a $2,880,000,000 "dole" substitute but Copeland suggested making it $2,000,000,000 and the ballot was taken on the larger sum.

Meanwhile, debate on the house-approved measure began on the senate floor without waiting for the committee to act. Senator Barbour (R-NJ) contended for separation of the direct relief fund of $880,000,000 from the remainder of the bill.

MONEY GOLFERS CROSS TO MEXICO

Gold Seekers Perform In Annual Links Fest At Caliente.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Feb. 6—(INS)— Under heavy skies and over a sloppy course, some 200 of the outstanding money golfers of the United States today were indulging in final practice for the opening tomorrow of the Agua Caliente golf sweepstakes, with $5,000 added.

This tournament is a novel experiment, something entirely new. It is a 72-hole open tournament, with $5,000 to be awarded on the tournament proper. Eighteen holes will be played each day and a pari-mutuel pool is to be made on each day's play. Ten per cent of the pool each day will go to the three leading players, with 90 per cent of the money wagered being returned to those holding tickets.

Thanks to their brilliant showing in the Oakmont $6,500 open tournament, MacDonald Smith, Ky Laffoon, Johnny Revolta, Bunny Torpey, Harry Cooper, Henry Picard, Ray Mangrum, Jimmy Hines and Horton Smith were installed as favorites.

Olin Dutra, national open champion; Wiffy Cox, last year's Caliente winner; Jimmy Thomson, Melbourne winner; Fred Morrison, George Von Elm, Vic Ghezzi, Harold McSpaden and a host of other "big shots" were also finding favor with those who thronged the course today.

More Men Than Women Drowned In 'Showing Off'

A man, because of his inherent desire to "show off," is eight times more likely to drown than a woman.

Eight men to one woman is the ratio for the rising toll of drownings in the United States, A. T. McCue, Red Cross field representative for first aid and life saving, said here Wednesday following his arrival to conduct a series of examinations and classes for Lincoln groups.

McCue stated that while Lincoln is among the high cities of those in its size, in number of Red Cross life saving examiners, he believes that a first aid and life saving program should be made a part of the public schools curriculae. "The school is the best place to teach these things," McCue said. "While drowning may occur in any age range, our records show that the heaviest fatalities come in the range of 14 to 20 years.

He pointed out that aquatic sports in general have steadily gained favor and devotees in the United States since 1914 at which time only 500 swimming pools were in use. "Now there are 17,700. About 600 were built under the CWA program.

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

SYNOPSIS: While Brother Pascual and Mateo Rubriz, the quixotic bandit, are hurrying north through Mexico to get El Keed to help recover the stolen crown of the Madonna, El Keed is deciding to forget his promise to his fiancee and break the wild mare which he has named Sally. El Keed's career in love has been a series of broken promises, and Ruth Lavery's father does not believe he will keep his promise to Ruth. El Keed, alias Montana, streaks for the mare.

The Kid pulled out his bandana.

Chapter Six.
MONTANA RIDES.

To the men who watched, close up, the similarity was even greater. They saw the devouring hunger in the eyes of Montana. They saw him crouching, gripping the top rail of the fence with both hands.

The next moment he was plunging through the dust that smoked across the face of the corral. They saw him dodging through it while the wild mare tried to flee from him—as though she feared tooth and claw.

He caught her like that, too. As she swerved out of a corner he leaped at her with hands and feet. She soared. He appeared gripping the pommel with one hand, the rest of him streaming upwards. But a moment later he was in the saddle.

The watchers were frozen in place because it was not a riding contest. There was death in the air. Tombstone Joe leaned on the fence with his face dripping blood and black, clotted dust.

The yelling had ended.

Each cowpuncher retained his past position. One was on one knee. Another, on tiptoe, gripped the top of a post and seemed to be yelling, though no sound came. Another held his hat rigidly above his head ,but forgot to wave it.

And from the veranda it could be seen that the head of Montana, at every impact, wavered crazily up and down. His chin was beating on his breast. At every lurch of the mare he seemed about to shoot from the saddle, but something stuck him in place. Luck, men might have called it. But it was not luck.

The man or the mare would fall dead, surely.

Then she staggered and stood still, her legs braced wide apart.

After a time, Montana got slowly from the saddle. He slid down. His face was crimson. Blood from his mouth, his ears, his nose had covered his face with a red mask. He felt his way to the head of the mare. He put his arm around her neck. He began to stroke her face.

And she, with half-closed eyes of exhaustion, leaned slowly against him. He pulled out his bandana. Instead of drying his own frightful face, he began to wipe the slobber and the froth from the muzzle of Sally.

It was only a few days after this that Mateo Rubriz sat in a cantina in "Greaser Town," the Mexican adjunct of Bentonville, near the Lavery ranch. Good Brother Pascual had left the table as soon as he had finished his dish of hot frijoles. There remained only Mateo Rubriz and a sallow-faced man with high, squared shoulders such as one expects to see only in a soldier.

He looked like an army officer—and a consumptive. He wore the garb of a prosperous Mexican charro, all yellow leather and a starring of silver that frightened and waned as he turned to his chair or lifted his glass to drink the green-white tequila.

He was Jack Lascar. Everyone south of the border knew him, and everyone north of the river knew him; but no one knew his nationality. Some people said that he was in fact a Lascar. They looked at the yellow whites of his eyes and said that.

He carried with him an air of amused superiority. He retained this air as he said: "If I walk into the street and tell people that Mateo Rubriz is in here—if I tell the gringos that—what'll they do to you, Rubriz?"

Mateo Rubriz grinned. A stiff wave of flesh rose up from his cheeks and almost obscured his eyes. He leaned forward.

"Your father—" he began.

After that, his voice was so soft that Jack Lascar had to bend his head to hear the words. A dreamy expression came over the face of Lascar.

"That's what I always wanted to know," said Lascar. "I always wanted to know who cut him down. It was you?"

"Who else would have dared?" asked Rubriz, leaning back, with a two-handed gesture of triumph.

Jack Lascar grunted. "Then what do you want?" he asked.

"I want you to accept a favor," said the Mexican.

"Humph!" grunted Lascar again. "Well?"

"You hate one man a good deal."

"Do I?"

"The Montana Kid?"

Jack Lascar turned a little in his chair, quickly. He glanced over his shoulder at the door. He looked at the window, also. Then he finished the white fire of his tequila and stared at Rubriz.

"Damn him!" said Jack Lascar.

"Once, in Nevada, in Carson City, in the Imperial Saloon," began Rubriz, "on a Tuesday morning—"

"Damn you!" said Lascar.

Rubriz leaned back in his chair. He looked, at that moment, like a fat, rather soft man of middle age, a pulpy creature half rotted by time. But Jack Lascar knew otherwise.

"This Montana Kid," said Rubriz, "is a man who would come to a challenge like a dog to raw meat. Now, if you write out a challenge in English — can you write English?"

"I write five languages," said Lascar, slowly, bitterly.

"If you wrote out a challenge and mailed it on the post-office notice board, the town would know it. The Kid would know it. He would come. And the sheriff he is not in town. The law is not in town. It is away—for one whole day!"

"The Montana Kid would not come!" said Jack Lascar. "Everybody knows, even the little babies know, that if Montana ever pulls a gun and shoots at another man—even in self-defense—the sheriff will be on his trail with a posse."

"No matter what he fears," said Rubriz, "he fears shame more. I cannot challenge him, because I cannot appear. But you can challenge him. How will they know that Mateo Rubriz lies in hiding beside one of the houses, or inside a window, with a rifle aimed and ready to end the fight before it begins?"

STREEKS ASKING A COMMUTATION

Pardon Board Will Hear 17 Cases At Hearing February 13.

Norman Streeks, who six years ago as a drug crazed Lyman farmer held up a gambling game in which he had lost $85 and fatally shot his friend, William Hatcher, will appear before the pardon board Feb. 13 to ask commutation of his life sentence for murder.

In his application, Streeks says that after he lost all his money he heard two men who came out of the game, joking about how Streeks was duped. He relates that he smoked part of a marijuana cigarette and crazed by the drug burst in on the game with a drawn gun. His friend, Hatcher, grappled with him, and during the struggle the gun was discharged, killing Hatcher. Streeks, an overseas war veteran, pleaded guilty.

A number of Scottsbluff men petitioned the board for a Christmas parole for Streeks but entered their plea too late. Those signing the petition, still on file, included Former District Judge E. F. Carter, now Supreme court judge; Former County Attorney Floyd Wright and Former Sheriff F. H. Koenig; County Sheriff Vincent Ramsey, County Attorney R. C. Clarke and Court Reporter L. C. Schenck.

Swetland to Appear.

Also to appear before the board will be Harry Swetland, who pleaded guilty to breaking into the Cornbelt Lumber Co. store at Denton in October, 1932 and stealing shotgun shells and a rifle in order to go duck hunting. He is serving five years. Swetland previously served part of a term of 1 to 10 years in the reformatory for cattle stealing in Keya Paha county. He was paroled and discharged before the Denton robbery. Assistant County Attorney Farley Young is recommending clemency for Swetland.

Wilmer Robison, James Walls and Eddy Carr, serving 5 and 6 year terms in the reformatory for robbery in Richardson county and George Meek, fourth member of the quartet, who is serving 6 years in the penitentiary for the same crime will ask paroles. The four took a car in St. Joseph, drove to Falls City where, on October 22, 1931, they held up a filling station and obtained $11. They were caught at Auburn. Walls and Robison broke jail at Falls City on Nov. 8, 1931 but were apprehended a week later.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

When You Go Stale.

No matter what your vocation in life, there are times when you are likely to "go stale," when only a definite and decided change in environment and habits will restore you to your old-time vivacity and efficiency.

Housewives write of their troubles. Everything seems monotonous and futile. They are making the supreme sacrifice of youth and beauty, and for what purpose Their work is tiresome and uninspiring and they suddenly hate it. Moreover, they cast about in their minds for definite points of blame to fasten on their husbands and generally find such quite readily.

What they invariably need is a change. They have "gone stale" on the job. Generally they cannot secure such a change by pulling up stakes and going an an invigorating but in expensive trip. Theirs is the more difficult, but quite possible, method of seeking a change in their daily routine, which will bring them new social contacts, physical rejuvenation and mental inspiration. I maintain that any woman can find such a change, if she sincerely seeks it, for modern life is teeming with opportunities that will provide daily hours of interesting variety to the woman who seeks them.

The young chap in school likewise "goes stale", particularly as springtime sends its advance guard of restlessness to charge the air. What he needs is a firmer grasp upon the vision and purpose which originally sent him to seek a higher education. Thus armed, wih an ultimate goal always in his subconsciousness, he won't stray far afield, even though restlessness and a sense of futility strenuously assil him.

The business man "goes stale". Nothing seems worth the effort, and no amount of effort seems to bring desired results. A weekend or so on a hunting or fishing trip; dusting off the golf equipment and setting forth with a determination to this year win a new "low" will probably bring about the needed diversion and change of viewpoint, so duties will click back into their accustomed routine instead of looming up as unconquerable bugabooes.

There comes a time in every man's life when he "goes stale." The smallest boy will topple over his house of brightly-colored blocks, and cry for new worlds to conquer, if he has toiled unceasingly and overlong at the building of that fascinating but intricate design. He must have a change to break the routine. So must we all.

So the intelligent among us calmly face the inevitable and evolve a new routine, while the over-emotional go to pieces and waste time and energy in dramatically predicting the end of all constructive results for him, and bewailing a turn for the down-grade. It's of tremendous value to be forwarned. That sensation of staleness comes to us all, particularly when there's a breath of promised spring just around the corner. Be ready for it.

Unworldly And Suspicious.

Dear Minerva: I am in a horrible mess, and so far as I can see, I don't deserve it in any way. But I certainly don't know what to do about it. My secretary is pretty and charming and has had charge of my routine work for almost eight years. She is a divorcee with a young son and a mother to support. She is efficient and calm and knows pretty much what she wants out of life, which is to have a moderately good time and go on her independent way. She isn't interested in pretense romances and won't even marry again unless she is sure it's the real thing. She knows men and life pretty well and is neither bitter nor susceptible. She's a fine girl.

Five years ago I married the prettiest and sweetest girl in town. She had led what is known as a sheltered life and has a lot to learn. From the very first, she was jealous of my secretary. Though goodness' knows, if I'd wanted to make love to the secretary. I wouldn't have married her. And wouldn't have gotten far with my ambitions with the girl in my office either. She knows me too well. Time and again, my wife has accused me of special interest in the girl I employ, but I've laughed her out of it. Now our first baby is on the way and she is positively hysterical over the idea that I'm not to be trusted and demands that I fire the girl. I won't do that, for several reasons, chiefly because I need her and also because she needs the job. So what am I going to do?—BOB.

A. How well do the two women know each other? It occurs to me that the solution might be the promotion of a better understanding between the two, the wife who knows about business secretaries mostly from movies and novels, and the secretary who knows men and life well and cannot be bothered with imitation romances, office or elsewhere. Wouldn't the secretary be wise and understanding enough to help you out of the unnecessary dilemma? Tell her the whole story and somehow, I imagine she will find a solution.

Answered Briefly.

Sarah: You value your prestige as a salary-earner and the head of a business office so highly that I doubt very much if you could ever know contentment married to the man whose ideal of a woman and wife is strictly domestic and home-bound. You alone can give the final answer to the problem. Do you love the man sufficiently to abandon your beloved sense of power and self sufficiency and become a tranquil, quiet home-maker for him? If not, you may as well abandon the idea of marriage. For obviously no compromise would satisfy either of you. For the average woman, I am sure the greater happiness would be in the home. But I'm not sure about you.

Delbert: The girl's love for you has become over-demanding and thus cloying and threatening and your instinct is to run fast and far. She is seemingly the possessive type, likewise young and inexperienced. Without censuring her, or you, the answer is plainly that the engagement is a mistake. The manly move is to break it as kindly as possible. But break it you must. You were both carried away in a whirlpool of emotions, but are too immature for the responsibilities of marriage.

ZEPHYR REGAINS BUSINESS FOR Q

Road Plans Add Fourth Car To Speedster In April.

Opening what is believed to be a new era in railroad passenger transportation, the Zephyr, crack Burlington streamline train, is regaining business for the road according to a report released here Wednesday.

The Zephyr went to work last Nov. 11 taking the place of steam trains on a daily roundtrip run from Lincoln to Kansas City via Omaha. During December the speedster carried more than three times as many persons as corresponding speed trains carried in December 1933. Last month the increase was 153 per cent. No comparison of November business was made by the Burlington as it admitted a good many curiosity riders boosted the business during the first few weeks of the trains operation.

A fourth car for the Zephyr now is under construction and when it is added to the train, probably in April, it will be able to carry 40 more passengers.

The Zephyr now has travelled 70,000 miles—30,000 for exhibition purposes and 40,000 in regular scheduled service.

Two additional speed trains for the Burlington now are under construction and may be placed in service about April 1, between Chicago and St. Paul.

POWER OUTPUT LESS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)— Electric power output for last week was 1,762,671,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,781,666,000 the previous week, the Edison Electric institute reported today. The increase over a year ago was 7.7 per cent, against an increase of 10.6 per cent the previous week.

BULLITT HAS OPERATION.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6—(AP)—William C. Bullitt, ambassador to Russia, was reported today by University hospital officials to be in "very good condition." He was operated on Monday for a slight infection of the jaw. It was said he would remain in the hospital for several days.

BANK DIVIDEND.

Payment of a first dividend of 40 per cent, totaling $12,635, to depositors of the Citizens State bank of Archer was announced Wednesday by the state banking department. The dividend was made possible through an RFC loan.

Chicago Man Repays Amount He Received For Relief Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 6—(AP)—Aid received from a relief commission is a debt of honor to John Turcich.

This is why he walked into the district office of the unemployment relief service yesterday and slapped down $55.94.

The sum represented the total he and his family had received while they were on relief from November 17 to December 17, 1933.

John has a job now.

"It is the honest and American thing to do," he said explaining his action.

"Every citizen on relief who again gets a job should do the same. It is nothing to my credit. It's just honest, that's all."

County Agents Believe 1935 Corn-Hog Sign-Up To Exceed Last Year's

Preliminary returns on corn-hog application signing indicate the 1935 sign-up will probably be heavy, state AAA headquarters announced today.

W. R. Wicks, agent in Thayer county, reported 74 applications filed. In Merrick county R. A. Stewart reports 237 applications signed there and comparative totals by precincts with last year indicate a heavier sign-up. A number of farmers who did not sign a 1934 contract may do so this year says Everett Beachler, Furnas county agent.

Furnas count yagent. Out of 54 farmers signing the first day, 2 were non-signers. In Butler county 75 applications were filed and 24 in Harlan county.

Huey Will Offer 'Share the Wealth' Plan in Congress

ATLANTA, Feb. 6 — (AP) — Huey Long's "share the wealth" program lay on Georgia's doorstep today, left there by the Louisiana dictator after a tumultous six-hour visit to the state's capital.

Long told an audience in the house of representatives he would introduce a part of his program in the United States senate "in a few days."

This part of his plan, the Kingfish said, would provide that "if you can make a million dollars a year, you can keep it," but on successive millions, there would be capital levies up to 100 per cent on the ninth million.

"It means," shouted Long, "that you could have four or five million dollars as a fortune and that's enough.

"This plan would bring in from 150 to 165 billion dollars tomorrow."

County Claims Must Carry Signatures of At Least 2 Members

In order to have a closer check on county expenditures and to avoid any further situations similar to the late lamented "bugicide imbroglio," county commissioners adopted a resolution Tuesday requiring that county purchase orders be signed by at least two members of the board. Part of the resolution reads:

"This board does not consider itself responsible for any purchase made, nor liable for the payment thereof, unless said written order (with two signatures of board members), is attached to the county voucher."

Previously the signature of one board member was sufficient on orders and as a mark of approval on claims but the new commissioners have been informally requiring two signatures since they took office. The resolution gives their action official status. It passed unanimously.

Employment Gains. But Number on Relief Shows Increase Too

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—(INS)—In spite of a slight gain in employment in December, the number of persons on relief is increasing, the American Federation of Labor said today in its monthly survey. Although employment will probably increase further this spring there is no prospect that industrial gains will be enough to employ more than a small portion of the 11,329,000 now without work, the survey said.

Trade union reports for the first part of January indicate that improvement in employment is probably continuing. Gains in employment in theaters, railroads and manufacturing, which are not usual at this time of year, reduced unemployment and put a small proportion of the membership back to work.

STEEL TRADE ACTIVITY CONTINUES TO EXPAND

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—Steel trade activity continued to expand this week, said Iron Age today in its weekly summary. The current rate of operations is estimated at 56½ per cent of capacity against 56 per cent last week.

No early recession is looked for, according to the review, although belief in the industry is that output may soon level off.

Husband Takes Advice Of Officer and Beats Up Friend of His Wife

MT. HOLLY, N. J., Feb. 6—(AP)—William A. Grady, hard-hitting police recorder who knocked down an alleged wife-beatre, has extended his "law" of the righteous fist to men who interest themselves in other men's wives.

Grady had advised Clifford Pew not to beat his wife if he thought she was going with another man, but to give a good "lacing" to the other man.

Last night Pew and Auguste Franke, 22, were brought before the recorder. Both were badly bruised.

Pew explained he had taken the recorder's advice and "punched the guy silly."

Warmly congratulating Pew, the police recorder turned to Franke, fined him $25 and gave him a six months' suspended sentence.

Grady earlier this week three times floored another man brought before him on a charge of beating his wife, when the man said, "Sure, she needed a licking."

32 ARE INJURED AS TRAINS CRASH

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Feb. 6—(INS)—None of the 32 persons injured in the Pennsylvania freight-passenger crash near here were in a serious condition today. Seventeen were passengers and the remainder were employes, negro porters and waiters.

The passenger train, enroute from Florida to New York, stopped because of engine trouble and the freight train skidded in trying to stop and crashed into the rear of the passenger train.

The Hoosiers will appear at the University of Nebraska Memorial stadium during the 1936 and 1937 season, the '36 date being in October and the '37 booking to be agreed upon later.

Nine-Game Schedule.

Signing of the Indiana team completes the nine-game 1936 Nebraska schedule, which reads as follows:

BO McMILLIN

Games at home — Indiana, Pittsburgh, Missouri, Kansas State and Iowa State.

Games away — Minnesota Oregon State at Portland Oklahoma Kansas.

This means the Nebraska-Iowa series will not be resumed in 1936, the two institutions failing to get together on a suitable date.

Members of the University of Indiana athletic staff are well known to many Nebraskans. "Bo" McMillin, head football coach, formerly had the Kansas State Wildcats in charge. Z. G. Clevenger, Indiana athletic director, was cocah at Nebraska Wesleyan in the early days and later was in charge as director at the University of Missouri.

Hoosiers Upset Purdue.

Under the tutelage of McMillin, Indiana was a "surprise" team in the Big Ten last season. The Hoosiers finished in a blaze of glory, defeating their rivals, Purdue, in the final game and knocking the Boilermakers out of a tie with Minnesota for the conference championships.

The addition of Indiana to the 1936 and 1937 home schedule again emphasizes the ability of Dana X. Bible to book major games for Memorial stadium. It also is a tribute to the loyal patronage of Nebraska football fans who have flocked to the stadium in large numbers and made it possible to attract major teams to Lincoln.

MAJORS ALL SET FOR NIGHT BALL

Three Western Clubs To Take Fling at Playing Under Lights.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—National baseball league owners, called together to approve the 1935 playing schedule, adopted a series of regulations for the control of night baseball. Going into session, they spent the first four hours discussing and formulating rules for the experiment in night playing, to be tried out this year for the first time in major leagues.

The regulations, as announced, limit each club to seven home games at night; prohibit night games on Sundays, Saturdays or holidays; bar the starting of a game in daylight and finishing it under the lights and prohibit any exhibition games at night. To guard against violations of the latter rule, they provided a penalty of $15,000 for every offense.

The lineup of the league on the night baseball question is substantially the same as that disclosed at the December meeting Cincinnati, which sponsored the radical proposal, and probably St. Louis and Chicago will install the lights. Philadelphia and Boston will not install lights, but will play night games at the abovementioned three cities. The New York Giants, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn will neither install the lights nor agree to play night games on the road.

Plainsmen Avert Slump to Cellar

Nebraska Wesleyan's basket gang escaped the basement of the N. C. A. C. standings by walloping York, 45-12, on the Plainsmen floor Tuesday night. York, as loser, is sole occupant of the bottom rung of the ladder, while Wesleyan is in fourth place, a game and a half behind Midland, in third.

Wesleyan rolled up a 15-0 tally when nine minutes of the opening half departed and held to a 26-5 margin at the intermission. Coach Farley juggled the Plainsmen's starting lineup at the last minute, inserting Ron Shuman at Barrett's guard and Bill Ptacek at center in place of Larson.

Defensively, Wesleyan did excellently in limiting York to three buckets from the field. Vic Bailey and Ron Shuman, with 10 apiece, topped the scorers, while Bill Thomas gathered in six for the losers. Score:

BRITISHER SOON READY FOR TEST

Campbell Plans Record Attempt Next Week At Daytona.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6—(INS)—While a half dozen of England's best mechanics labored over the five-ton racing monster "Bluebird" today, Sir Malcolm Campbell, "the fastest man on earth," awaited favorable conditions on the speedway beach here for his initial test run.

Test trials are expected to be made this week and an attempt to shatter his own world's record of 272 miles per hour may be made next week, or whenever conditions are "right."

A scant second and a half, less time than it requires a track star to cover 15 yards, a considerably shorter period than a swimming champion takes to negotiate the distance across a 290-foot pool, separates the present record from the mark that has been the intrepid Englishman's long ambition to establish—a clip of 300 miles per hour. The difference in this daring conquest, however, amounts to about 30 miles per hour, or nearly 150 yards.

300 M. P. H. His Goal.

The huge, remodeled racer in which Campbell will make his fourth attempt here to break the land speed record, traveled the measured mile two years ago in approximately 13½ seconds to establish the present record. Reducing the time to exactly 12 seconds, the autoist would achieve his five-mile-a-minute goal, or 300 miles per hour.

"The big problem," Campbell asserted, "is what the car will do under such tremendous speed. I could pilot it safely at 400 miles per hour, but one never knows what the machine will do or what may happen."

RING CHAMPION KEEPS PROMISE

Max Baer Dated Box In Frisco for Benefit of Fighter's Widow.

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 6—(INS)—Max Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, were due home today after a prolonged tour of the country in which the heavyweight champion scored easy victories over a string of opponents in exhibition non-title bouts. The champion and his manager have approved a benefit bout between Baer and an unnamed opponent, the proceeds of the bout to go to the widow of Frankie Campbell, a local fighter who died of a severe beating during a bout with Baer.

Tentative date for the bout has been set for Feb. 15. State Commissioner Clair Goodwin has been asked by Hoffman to take complete charge. The commissioner will name a committee to handle arrangements for the benefit fight.

Hank Hankinson, Fred Feary, Frank Connelly, Al Morro and several others have been named as possible opponents for Baer.

Not Fighting In Europe.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal, Feb. 6—(I. N.S.)—Max Baer today indicated that he would not defend his world's heavyweight title during his proposed European tour, declaring he believed more money could be made in this country against an outstanding challenger.

Arriving here after a barnstorming tour of the east, the champion said that he planned to accompany his younger brother, Buddy Baer, to England this summer in the hopes of having Buddy lift the English heavyweight championship, now held by Jack Peterson.

Referring to rumors of a proposed match in Germany with Walter Neusel, Baer said:

"I really know nothing about it. If Germany has made any definite offer I know nothing of it. I hardly think such a match will materialize. Furthermore, I think more money can be made in this country against an outstanding challenger."

Praise For Dark Boy.

Baer was loud in his praise of young Joe Louis, sensational negro heavyweight, but declared "he has not fought anybody yet and we don't know whether he can take it."

Baer laughed off rumors of his reported interest in Mary Kirk Brown, with whom he was often seen during his sojourn in Florida. Speaking of his matrimonial affairs, Baer said:

"Of course, I wasn't serious with Mary Kirk Brown. She's married and, besides, I have no intentions of marrying again. Not while I'm smart, anyway. Figure it out for yourself.

"Suppose I make a million smackers. Uncle Sam takes half of it, my manager gets a third of what's left and then the lawyers come in and have their picnic.

"Your prize sucker, Mr. Baer, get's what's left—which isn't very much. How'm I going to divide that fifty-fifty with a frau. Nix."

Ex-Nebraska Line Coach Seeks Fill Vacancy At Boulder.

BOULDER, Colo., Feb. 6—(I.N. S.)—Coach Bernard (Bunny) Oakes of Montana university was expected to confer with University of Colorado athletic officials here today concerning the vacancy caused by the resignation of Bill Saunders, head football coach.

Oakes is said to be one of five applicants receiving the most consideration.

Efforts of alumni to persuade Saunders to reconsider were unsuccessful. Saunders is quitting athletics to take over the management of his father's properties in the south, including a plantation in Alabama and a ranch in New Mexico.

PARKS HIGH SLATE CLEAN.

PARKS—Parks high kept its basketball slate in Nebraska competition clean by beating Haigler, 29-28, and winning a 26-16 game from Trenton.

REFUSAL of the executive council of the junior chamber of commerce to take over sponsorship of a $5,000 baseball coupon book drive as a friendly gesture to Francis Pug Griffin and Cy Lingle, who are negotiating for the transfer of Topeka's Western league franchise to Lincoln, was a disappointment to the fans' committee which presented the plan to the jaysee body.

Despite the action of the jaysee council and the disappointment mentioned, the unfavorable vote does not necessarily impede nor defeat the movement aimed at reviving class A baseball in Nebraska's capital city.

The logical way out, as I see it, is for the live baseball fans of Lincoln to form their own organization and appoint committees of hustlers to fare forth and put over the drive on their own account.

AS THE situation has been explained to the writer, the members of the jaysee executive council are not in any sense opposed to the Western league scheme. In fact, most of them assured me personally they are anxious that the project may succeed.

The chief objection expressed within the council was that the junior chamber already is obligated to promote the advance ticket sale for the national A. A. U. track and field championships in July and if sponsorship of a baseball drive were accepted, the Lincoln public inevitably would come to the conclusion that the chief mission of the junior chamber is to put on ticket selling drives.

This sentiment undoubtedly was the clincher with the executive council and brought about the decision unfavorable to sponsoring the intended baseball drive.

MEANTIME, the writer has been assured that the senior chamber is in hearty sympathy with the proposed revival of Western league baseball and one of its officiers predicted that the board of directors would be pleased to give the movement the chamber's endorsement.

Despite the action by the junior chamber's executive council, Pug Griffin has informed that he and his associate, Cy Lingle, will continue the negotiations with the Western league.

Both Griffin and Lingle plan to attend the league meeting Thursday at Des Moines and in event the league is ready to deliver the Topeka franchise, free of debt or obligation, they will accept on behalf of Lincoln and take such steps as are necessary in organizing and assembling a club to represent the Nebraska capital in the 1935 pennant campaign.

In event the franchise is acquired by Griffin and Lingle, it would then be up to a fans' organization to proceed with the coupon book drive—not because of any demands in that direction have been made by Griffin and Lingle, but because of a desire on the part of Lincoln fandom to do something substantial on behalf of the baseball cause.

THE response at last Friday's mass meeting of fans convinced the writer that Lincoln is ripe for the resumption of class A baseball. Pug Griffin and Cy Lingle have a similar conviction.

A hundred or more fans, with telephonic and written assurances from as many more of their friendly interest, aren't turning out to a mass meeting unless they are inspired by an intense wish that Lincoln may advance in organized ball to the league of higher classification.

And while the subject is hot, this column suggests that Lincoln fans and businessmen keep in mind the importance of being represented at the Western league session Thursday in Des Moines. The plan to send a Lincoln delegation to the Iowa city should be recognized and put across as one of the necessary features of the movement, serving notice on the league of the lively interest that Lincoln takes in the proposed transfer.

So load up the old gasoline buggy, invite some of your friendly fans to make the journey with you and pull away from Lincoln not later than 7 a. m. Thursday. Follow U. S. highway No. 6 all the way to Iowa's capital city. The distance is 201 miles and the league meeting place is the Chamberlain hotel, Des Moines.

LINCOLN LADIES' LEAGUE.

Union Coal bumped 2,292 maple pegs for high honors in the Ladies' league at the Lincoln Parlors Tuesday night and recorded the top single game with 822. Individually, Williamson's 570 was the best series and Russell's 205 the best single game effort. Paramount, Liberty Life and Mary Jane each won two of three beating Hedeman's Mangels and Wadlow's, while Union Coal won all three from Wolff Cycle.

"Y" INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE.

Paramount's 2,417 was the best team series in the Industrial league at the "Y" alleys Tuesday night and the same team's 866 was the best one-game score. Among the individuals, Appline's 590 was high series, his 212 top single game. Iowa-Nebraska Power won two of three from Paramount, Brigham's did the same against Nebr.

NATIONAL LOOP NEAR TO BRINK

Solution of Beanville's Problem Reached In Nick of Time.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(INS)—Judge Emil Fuchs, who seems to have run the Boston Braves largely by ear, explained very carefully at the close of the National league's schedule meeting last night just how he planned to restore the fortunes of the ball club by selling tickets in February for something that can't possibly happen until the middle of April. The judge told a good story, so good, in fact, that the National league underwrote the lease on Braves Field for the next 11 years. But, from what I hear today, it may turn out that the judge was wasting our time and his.

Dangling Canadian Money.

They tell me that Joe Cattarnich and Leo Dandurand, high-rollers from across the border, may weigh in any day with a bonafide, money-on-the-mark offer for the Braves. Cattarnich and Dandurand are generally referred to as Canadian sportsmen, a courtesy term covering the fact that they promote hockey and horse tracks in the Dominion and elsewhere.

I'm aware that the spectre of horse racing is something that seems to cause the average baseball man to shudder violently and pass by with averted gaze. But I'm also conscious that certain club owners in major league baseball have not been averse to making money out of both enterprises and, the Boston National league situation being far more alarming than anybody has cared to admit, it would be most surprising if baseball wasn't able to stifle righteousness in favor of necessity.

Whole League In Jeopardy.

The Braves could very well carry the entire structure of the National league with them if they failed to come up for the start of the season, officially listed yesterday for April 16.

Judge Fuchs himself tipped this fact when, in explaining that, after all, he was just a beautiful idealist, he made this statement:

"I can sell Wally Berger for an amazing sum, the offer still being open. I could get out of the red and have money to carry on by accepting offers for Dutch Brandt, but I won't do this. Boston has stood by me and I'll stand by it."

Nothing to Boast About.

The judge seemed to feel that he was doing something unusual, even while admitting that 30 mayors in as many New England cities had declared a half-holiday for the Braves' opening; that he had sold $10,000 worth of "book tickets" for Braves Field in advance, with $45,000 more in pledges, and that the governor himself was behind the enterprise. All of these things are unusual, but the judge's decision about Berger and Brandt is not.

The fact is that the sale of this pair right now would leave the Braves as naked as a hitching post and the National league without a franchise in Boston. In other words, the sale would put Fuchs back in the indigo for a month and baseball back to 1899 for the rest of its life.

The club, I believe, has 21 players on its entire reserve list at this time. In a word, it's down below the player-limit in the middle of winter.

Commish Gives O. K. to Use of Dempsey As Garden Referee

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(INS)—The state athletic commission today lifted the ban on Jack Dempsey as referee. Fight and wrestling promoters were given the right to engage Dempsey as a special referee for their cards, provided the commission has designated the bout in which he is to officiate. At the same time, the commission ruled that Max Baer may fight exhibitions of less than 15 rounds with his title protected, even in the case of a knockout. Under the new rule all title-holders may engage in overweight, non-title battles.

Bears' Ace Pitcher Says Nay to Majors

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 6—(INS) — Not every college baseball star jumps at an offer from the major leagues.

Bill Peterson, lanky ace slabman of the University of California, Pacific Coast intercollegiate champions, today turned thumbs down on offers from several major league scouts who were after him, not only for his pitching but his hitting ability as well.

Bill announced he has definitely decided to enter the U. S. forestry service.

ROWDY CHIEF ON FOUR-H MAT CARD

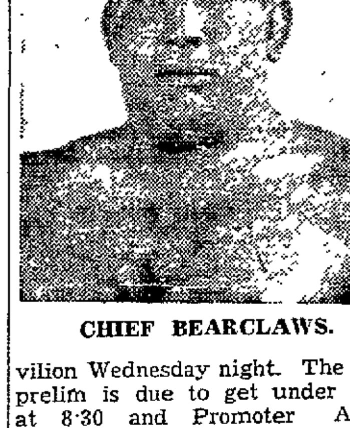

Bearclaws Coming Back For Grapple With Coast Adonis.

TONIGHT'S MAT CARD.

Main event—Chief Bearclaws Chewicki, 240, Oklahoma, vs. George Koverly, 215, Hollywood, Cal, finish match.

Preliminaries—Ellis Bashara, 210, Oklahoma, vs Mike Nazarian, 225, Minneapolis, two falls out of three, 30-minute time limit. Louis Benisek, 195, Kearney, vs. Johnny Lehl, 205, Raymond, one fall, 20-minute time limit.

Disqualified in his last appearance before a Lincoln audience, Chief Bearclaw Chewicki is scheduled to take on George Koverly, the Hollywood Adonis, in the main event of the Eagles' wrestling extravaganza at the 4-H pavilion Wednesday night. The first prelim is due to get under way at 8:30 and Promoter Adam Krieger promises that the building will be heated.

CHIEF BEARCLAWS.

The two-fall, 30-minute semi-windup likely will be the focal point for much of the interest Wednesday night, as it brings to Lincoln for the first time a pair of new faces in Ellis Bashara and Mike Nazarian. Bashara, familiar to Lincolnites for his work on the gridiron when playing at a guard station for Oklahoma U., has been wrestling down Kansas City way since his graduation last June.

Two home state lads are due to mix it in the 20-minute opening go. Johnny Lehl, the human billygoat from Raymond, is to meet Louis Benisek, protege of John Pesek from Kearney.

Lincoln Takes On Alumni Quintet

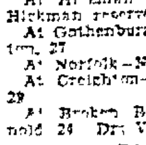

Ghosts from great Lincoln high basketball teams of other years will stalk tonight in the Irving gymnasium when the Red and Black regulars of this year meet an alumni quint recruited from stars of the past 10 years. The tipoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock and there will be no preliminary game.

Two additions to the alumni squad were made at the last minute. Art Perry, 1927 guard and forward will take the place of Morris Fisher, who will be unable to play, and Bob Suter, 1926 guard, will round out the squad to its full 10.

Other alumni due to take part in the game are Bob Parsons, 1934, Marvin Plock, 1933, Ray Baldwin, 1932, Bob Ray, 1931, Virgil Yelkin, 1930, George Sauer, 1929; Paul "Zeke" Winterhalter, 1928, and Delmar "Pinky" Ward, 1925. W. H. Browne, basketball coach at the University of Nebraska and coach of a majority of the alumni players when they attended Lincoln high, will guide the "ghosts" during the game.

Pug Griffin, Lincoln baseball magnate and former Lincoln high footballer, will be timekeeper. Don Elliott, the only official who worked in 1925 and still is available, will do the whistle tooting.

Coach Baller probably will start Rohrig and Benson, forwards; Ramey, center, Fate and Kinnamon, guards.

Previous Decision Reversed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)— The state athletic commission having reversed a previous decision, Jack Dempsey is free to referee boxing matches in New York state whenever asked by a promoter.

Dempsey always has held license, but he didn't care to accept the run of routine assignments, and heretofore the commission has refused to allow him special favors.

A rule adopted yesterday, however, permits the commission to assign Jack or anyone else requested by a promoter. The commission still reserved the right to choose the official for any bout on the card.

The commission sought to bring Barney Ross, lightweight champion, back into its good graces by asking him if it was all right to select the winner of the Lou Ambers-Sammy Fuller match, March 1, as the outstanding challenger for the champion's title.

Ross, who is under suspension in this state for not fighting the commission's choices, has not answered.

COAST KEEN FOR LOU BROUILLARD

Fighter From Bay State Makes Hit With Ring Fans of Far West.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6—(AP)—Firmly entrenched as a favorite on the west coast, Lou Brouillard, former world welter and middleweight champion, today looked around for another fistic victim in these parts.

The hard-hitting middleweight from Worcester, Mass., last night stopped Indian Joe Rivers of Fresno, Calif., in the fourth round of their 10-round match. Brouillard weighed 163 pounds and Rivers 162.

Unleashing a vicious attack, Brouillard had Rivers down for a count in the second and was punishing him badly in the fourth when Referee George Blake stepped in and stopped it. Rivers was outclassed all the way. It was the easterner's second victory in a week.

Customers Sour On Maxie.

Maxie Rosenbloom, 182, slapped out a verdict in another 10-round bout over Johnny Miler, 181½, Des Moines, Ia., but most of the 4,000 customers went home before the affair was over.

The third campaigner from the Atlantic seaboard, Honey Melody, 137 of Boston, ambitious young lightweight, piled up an early lead and held it over Johnny Hines, 136, San Pedro, Calif., winning the decision after 10 rounds of mixing.

PRIMROSE UNDEFEATED.

PRIMROSE—Coach Francis J. Rezak's Primrose high cagers are undefeated this season. Primrose beat Bartlett on the latter's court last week 28-1. The Primrose reserves kept their slate clean by winning, 27-5.

Stock Market Losses Of Fractions To More Than A Point Are Numerous

Equities Sag in Listless Trading

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—Sthocks slid lower in another listless market today. Losses of fractions to more than a point were numerous at the finish. The closing tone was heavy. Saels approximated 540,000 shares.

Somewhat less favorable mid-week business statistics bore down rather heavily on a lackadaisical stock market today.

Price trends were mixed, but declines outnumbered gains. Of course, there was still a decided inclination to hold up transactions until the gold decision is known buta larger than expected decline in power porduction, and a more cautious appraisal of the outlook for steel, gave market circles something else to think about. Railroad bonds were heavy, and the rest of the bond market about steady. Commodities moved narrowly.

American Telephone, Union Pacific and American Commercial Alcohol were among shares losing a full point. Issues sagging fractionally included U. S. Steel, Sears, Chrysler, Continental Can, Alaska Juneau, Socony-Vacuum, Santa Fe, Hudson, Briggs, General Foods, Celanese, North American, and Public Service of New Jersey. Firm spots included Liggett & Myers, B. Du Pone, American Can, Homestake and U. S Smelting.

Telephone turned heavy following overnight news of approval by the senate interstate commerce committee of an appropriation of $750,000 for further investigation. Some time ago, however, America Telephone officials said the company had nothing to conceal and welcomed the investigation.

Rails, both bonds and stocks, seemed somewhat upset by recent earnings statements and belief in some quarters that the administration's transportation program is being developed so as to facilitate reorganization and scaling down of debt of weaker roads. President Roosevelt said at his press conference today, nevertheless, that the administration had not changed its program of making loans to weak roads.

It was noted also in financial quarters that the president discouraged some of the more inflationary interpretations placed upon the proposed banking legislation, calling the story that the legislation indicated an intention to abandon 40 per cent gold backing for notes, fantistic.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—The curb market displayed a more steady tone today although activity remained dull and price changes were generally narrow.

Utility shares, which have been in a downward spiral for more than a week, attracted some support when prices reached the vicinity of the old 1934-35 lows. Pennsylvania Water & Power was 1 point higher at 57. Electric Bond & Share and American Gas were unchanged.

Minor losses were shown by leading oils, metals and industrials, including Creole Petroleum, Great Atlantic & Pacific, Hiram Walker, American Cyanamid "B," Standard Oil of Ohio, and Swift & Co.

Specialties were generally inactive. Colts Firearms losing around 1½ points and Montgomery Ward "B" gaining nearly that much. Bunker Hill & Sullivan and Parker Rust Proof held unchanged.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—The bond market performe din sluggish fashion today.

There were no indications of an enlivened interest on the buying side of corporate obligations by reason of yesterday's decline. U. S. government issues continued to hold a narrow range with the undertone steady in the early trading.

Traders who specialize in railroad liens found interest in the report from President Roosevelt's press conference that the administration has not altered its policy with respect to financial aid for the weaker carriers.

The inference drawn from this was the RFC was not considering any tightening of restrictions which might suddenly embarrass roads now unable to meet interest obligations out of revenues.

In spite of this note of reassurance, the low priced rail bonds still were without vigorous support and several continued to droop.

St. Paul 5s and Baltimore & Ohio 4½s moved down around a half point, the former to 22 and the latter to 51⅞. Junior liens of New York Central, Nickel Plate and other roads were steadier though they showed no real recovery.

Prime corporate issues were firm. Slightly higher levels prevailed for Armour & Co. 4½s at 103 and International Telephone 5s at 66⅝.

Treasury 3s were down 5-32nds of a point at 102.23, while the 3⅜s of 1940-43 and 4s were a shade higher.

Foreign loans were dull with changes narrow.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—SUGAR—Early losses of 1 to 2 points were recovered later in the sugar futures market here today, on a renewal of covering and buying of trade and commission houses influenced by the continued steadiness in the old delivery sold up from 1 91 to 1 92 and September from 2.04 to 2.06. In the new, July advanced from 1 98 to 1.99, and September to 2 04 from 2 02 or unchanged to a point above the previous close. The market at 2 p. m. held around the best.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—COTTON—The restrictive influence of uncertainty over the gold clause decision seemed even more pronounced in cotton today. Trading was extremely quiet, and fluctuations narrow, with May contracts ruling around 12.35 in the mid-afternoon market. The general list was 1 to 3 points net lower.

New York Butter and Cheese.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—(AP)—BUTTER—Receipts 15,199, steady. Prices unchanged.

CHEESE—313, 910, firm and unchanged.

Chicago Grain Market Nervous

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—Deepening of the shadow of gold clause cases did much to restrict grain business today, and served as a drag on wheat values.

A sustaining influence nevertheless was increased attention given to the fact that this is the season for a beginning of high winds southwest, especially in western Kansas and Oklahoma and parts of the Texas panhandle. Fears were expressed regarding prospective consequent crop impairment as a result of soil drifting.

Wheat closed nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛ cent lower, May 94⅜@½c, corn ¼ cent off to ¼ cent up, May 82⅝@½c, oats unchanged to ⅛ cent down, and provisions at 2 cents to 7 cents advance.

With the Liverpool wheat market unresponsive to price rallies this side of the Atlantic, grain showed an early downward trend here today. Continued waiting for a gold decision had a bearish influence. Opening ¼ to ½ cent lower May 94⅛@⅜c, Chicago wheat afterward held near this range. Corn started ⅛ to ⅝ cent off, May 82@82½c, and subsequently altered little.

Cables said weakness of wheat quotations at Liverpool was due to cheaper offerings from Canada and Argentina. Bears in Chicago questioned whether there had as yet been a downward reaction sufficient to make grains underpriced, and to lay a foundation for stronger markets. It was contended that not until the United States government estimate of livestock, on farms was available, probably about the middle of next week, would there be a sound basis for determining price possibilities in the grain futures market.

Some moisture reports today in domestic grain territory southwest and west served as more or less of an incentive to sellers of wheat. In addition, forecasts pointed to warmer temperatures in that region. There were also advices that heavy snowstorms in central Europe the past week would provide abundant protection from any cold wave that might develop. On the other hand, a steadying influence was that hog and cattle prices were asserted to be approaching again the point where feeding of corn and oats appeared profitable.

Provisions tilted upward, despite talk of consumer resistance to a further mark-up in meat prices.

About mid-session, wheat was ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher compared with yesterday's finish, and corn was ⅛ to ¼ cent down.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 24 cars, a week ago 19, and a year ago 106.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO Feb. 6—(AP)—Attracted by Monday's slump, consuming interests entered the market yesterday to send grain prices on a mild rally. The net gains in wheat and corn contracts were ⅛ to ¾ cents a bushel, but rye closed about a half cent lower. Many futures were carried to the lowest level in weeks, before the spurt.

The buying demand in the cash market apparently checked a decline in the futures market. Flour mills bought an estimated 60,000 bushels of wheat and sales of 103,000 bushels of corn were reported by cash grain merchants. An estimated 121,000 bushels of rye the bulk of which was reputedly bought by distillers, was reported sold. The market was unusually quiet throughout the day, however, the suspense over the pending gold clause case continuing to discourage trading. May wheat yesterday was within a quarter of a cent of its lowest price for the season, before the rally and May corn was at the lowest price since the middle of last November.

Although supplies of corn have been steadily diminishing and receipts from the country at principal markets are currently running far below last year, the May corn future is approximately 11 cents under the high price reached a few weeks ago. Market stocks are now 33,000,000 bushels below a year ago with a new harvest several months away.

Chicago Produce.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—Butter was easy in tone today. Eggs were firm and poultry unsettled.

The movement of butter out of Chicago yesterday was slightly under previous withdrawals but still maintained a moderately heavy rate. Cash prices broke, New York falling 1 to 1¼ cent apparently on the strength of anticipated New Zealand arrivals.

Firmness in eggs was as much a weather proposition as anything else. Prices have held consistently above last year's high largely on expectations of lower production as a result of smaller flocks on farms.

Mrs. Reynolds' Will Chalenged on Ground Of Undue Influence

Objections to probate of the will of Emma J. Reynolds who died January 1 were filed in County court Wednesday by Rose and Margaret Reynolds of Omaha, granddaughters of Mrs. Reynolds. A hearing on the petition for probate was scheduled for Thursday. The two granddaughters claim that the purported will was not executed as required by law and that it is invalid because it was secured by use of undue influence exercised on Mrs. Reynolds by her three sons, A. T., L. W. and H B. Reynolds. The will was drawn March 12, 1934.

The objections involve specifically $1,350, as the will, under certain conditions, left $1,500 each to H. B., A. T. and L. W. Reynolds and $75 each to the two granddaughters who are children of the late C. E. Reynolds. Then, after naming certain other minor bequests, it provides that each of the three sons shall receive one-fourth of the residue and that the two granddaughters, Margaret and Rose, shall each receive one-eighth.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—BY JOHN HIX

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Strange as it seems, today, February 6, 1935, is 48 hours long. It began before midnight last night. and it will continue beyond midnight tonight. It lasts fo. two complete reveolutions of the earth.

Each day is born out on the Pacific ocean, at the 180th medidian which serves, except for minor variations, as the International Date Line. On the western side of this line it is always one day later than on the east. To the west of that meridian it was February 6 while it was still February 5 in Lincoln. The day lasts a full 24 hours just west of the date line, and at the instant it becomes February 7 there it also becomes February 6 again just east of the date line—to remain another 24 hours.

At midnight last night February 6 came into being in Lincoln—but already the day was eighteen hours old out on the Pacific beyond 180. Tonight at midnight February 6 will cease to exist here, but it will still have six hours to live in Samoa, just this side of 180. From the time Wednesday started sometime yesterday, until it finally ends sometime tomorrow, 48 hours will have elapsed.

Tomorrow: Ba ba ba ba.

WOMEN VOTERS QUIZ 2 MEMBERS

Want Mitchell and Olson Explain Stand On Health Unit.

An explanation of their apparent disregard of a pre-campaign pledge is asked of C. J. Mitchell and Dr. O. Olson, county commissioners, by members of the Lincoln League of Women Voters. The point at issue is the city-county health unit to which commissioners recently turned a cold shoulder.

Shortly before the primaries the league sent candidates for commissioner a questionnaire, the first question of which read, "If elected will you begin to work immediately for a city-county health unit?" Mitchell and Olson both answered "yes" without reservations.

In a letter to commissioners the league suggests that their action since January first impresses them as "being not in accordance with the pledge upon which you were elected." The league believes voters have a right to expect fulfillment of the pledge, according to the missive. The letter is signed by Mrs. A D. Schrag, president; and Mrs Flora Pace, secretary.
